The Otis B Driftwood Showband

This first class orchestra of veteran musicians provide the main entertainment for the evening. Geoff Hiscott, the mercurial leader of the band is well known locally and he can be seen at the Farnham Maltings each month at the 'Jazz Café'. He has gathered together a band of experienced musicians who love the music of the 1940's and 1950's and give their own treatment to the wonderful songs produced by Cole Porter, George and Ira Gershwin, Jimmy Van Heusen, Sammy Cahn, Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong and Henry Mancini.

Each song is introduced by Geoff in his inimitable fashion. He has available a miscellany of other musical acts and no doubt will have one or two accompanying him this evening.

Quintessential

From the excellent a capella ladies choir 'In Accord', musical director, Sue Lampard and four of her singers have formed this close harmony quintet. They sing modern songs in the most intricate way, giving a finished article of the highest quality. One wonders how they acquire such wonderful harmonies! Sue still leads In Accord Ladies Choir and also the Guildford Harmony Barbershop Chorus, but is always looking for new avenues to follow musically. You will be amazed at the quality and difficulty of their performance.

Nick Ridley

Nick sometimes plays in the band on guitar but has now put together a musical act with a comical twist. He plays the electric guitar, acoustic guitar, banjo and ukulele. He will be using all of these instruments this evening as he works through his act.

Like the introductions by Geoff Hiscott, some of the lyrics by Nick are a little risqué and the audience can enjoy a good laugh and good music at the same time.

Comic Relief

Working with the band on many occasions is a group of three supporters who bring their own brand of zany comedy to the proceedings. Be prepared for anything from these three: Jim Codling, Richard Miles and Peter Templeman.
