December, 1934.

Editorial.

Judging by references within this Magazine, the great feature of School life this term has been the milk-drinking at 11 a.m. It may be so, but we need not add to the more expert comments of our contributors. We would rather mention two other important matters.

First, there is the Memorial Field. You will read about it in the O.F.A. section (at least we hope you will), but we are glad to record here how, with its freshly sown grass, it is growing into a thing of beauty, and we would congratulate all who have had a hand in bringing this about.

Secondly, there is the revived Savings Association, now in a very healthy state. It is important, apart from personal profit, that many of our boys are acquiring the nation-wide habit of thrift, which does a good deal to protect this country from violent political and economic changes.

And, of course, there is a third matter. For the sake of future historians we simply record that the Prep. has gone.

* * * * *

We said "good-bye" to Mr. Shelton at the end of last term, and no more will he preside over the Chemistry Laboratory. There must be something peculiarly attractive about the School, for he was with us fourteen years—and this in spite of the fact that previously he had given many other schools a trial, and in his time had played many parts. Well, at last he has left us too, but not to rest. Already he has published a book of which the secondary title is "Common Sense in Education" (Hutchinson), in which he gives the world the benefit of his experience and ripe judgment. And we believe there is to be another. It is not our intention to write here a review of Mr. Shelton's book, but we do wish, on behalf of many Old Boys at Universities and places where they do chemistry, to acknowledge a great debt to him.

* * * * *

In his place we welcome Mr. W. C. Tomlinson, B.Sc., who comes to us from King Edward VI. School, Chelmsford. He has the good wishes of us all for a happy time at Farnham.

Elphick, G. R. Blower and C. L. Larmer.

Members of the various sub-committees are drawn from the main committee.

Debating Society.

A preliminary meeting of the Debating Society was held on September 28th to elect a Secretary and Committee, and to arrange the debates for the term.

The first debate was held on October 12th. The subject was "That English spelling should be reformed," proposed by Mr. Turner and opposed by Mr. Barnard. Mr. Turner said that spelling had not kept pace with the progress of speech, and suggested that a committee should be set up to settle all matters relating to uncertain spelling of words. Mr. Barnard contended that if English spelling was altered books would have to be reprinted and we would have to learn to spell again. The motion was defeated by 10 votes to 13.

On October 26th Mr. Raggett proposed that "Man in the Uncivilised State was happier than Civilised Man." Mr. Raggett described the conditions under which uncivilised man lived, and said that he was far healthier and happier than we are to-day. He also said uncivilised man had a greater degree of freedom than we have. Mr. Genese, opposing, defined the meaning of happiness, and said that in order to be happy one had to be well developed mentally. After a large number of members had aired their views, a vote was taken, and the motion was carried by 17 votes to 15. Incidentally, the attendance of 53 members constitutes a record as far as previous minutes show.

On November 9th Mr. Taylor proposed that "Day Schools are preferable to Boarding Schools." He said that by sending their children to boarding schools parents were shifting the responsibility for their upbringing from their own shoulders to those of the schoolmasters, and that the outlook of a boarding school pupil on life would be much more limited than a day school pupil's. Mr. Brock, opposing the motion, said that the time wasted in travelling to and from school would be profitably employed for games by the boarding school pupils. After a number of very witty speeches, a vote was taken, and the motion was carried by 23 votes to 13.

On Friday, November 23rd, Mr. Morgan gave an address on "How to make the League of Nations a Complete Success." He described what the League of Nations is, its aims and ideals, and what it is doing now. After his speech, several questions concerning the League of Nations were put forward, and a vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Taylor to Mr. Morgan.

Photography.

"The Viewfinders" is the name of the re-formed Photographic Club, which held its first meeting on May 4th, with only four members. During the summer activity was restricted to rambles about the district, but the membership steadily grew to its present respectable total of 19.

This term the Club has secured the use of the Armoury, which is now being fitted up as a dark-room after a good deal of work by members. As a result, the Club was able on November 8th to enjoy a demonstration of Toning Gaslight and Bromide Prints, given by G. C. Ridout and E. A. F. Barker. Under the guidance of Mr. Lock it was a great success.

Further Records of Samuel Gulliver.

The following lines were found recently in a house in London, erected in 1723, which was at one time occupied by Richard Sympson, the publisher. The pages were written in the hand of Mr. Gulliver, and were probably part of the MSS. of "Gulliver's Travels" omitted on first publication.

R.J.T.

While I yet remained in Lilliput I formed a desire to examine the schools to which, as I have before told you, all Lilliputian children were sent when they were twenty moons old. His Imperial Majesty, being informed of my wishes, readily extended all conveniences, and I was directed to a school on the outskirts of Milendo, where I could lie full length in a field adjoining and examine their activities at leisure. In this field they were wont to practise the leaping over sticks and dancing on ropes, sports by which the most proficient gained great employment in after life. The school itself was about two feet high, and by peering in the windows with my pocket perspective I was able to discern perfectly all their doings. In the first room I examined there were several Lilliputian youths, and it was manifest that the system of education was entirely congenial to them, for bursts of laughter frequently assailed my ears. Unfortunately, they expressed themselves in language so technical that I was unable to follow their discourse.

A bell rang out from the top of the school, at which everyone rushed out of the classrooms. They chiefly collected in a large room on the first floor and there they were each given a bottle of some white liquid, which they sucked up through a small tube. As they stood around in little groups, making a great noise of conversation and laughter, they gave the room the appearance of a drinking saloon. I was surprised at the avidity with which they consumed this liquid, and had certain qualms as to whether the drink was intoxicating. I had rarely seen signs of any drunkenness in the grown-up Lilliputians, so I conjectured that it was a part of their scheme of education to inure the young to the use of alcohol. However, I observed no signs of reeling or of fuddled speech among the pupils, so I was forced to relinquish this theory. Of the remainder of the remarkable things I observed about this school I intend to relate at length in a treatise which will deal with the social and political conditions in Lilliput.

A few days later I was engaged in a conversation with my Lilliputian friend, Reldresal, the Principal Secretary for Private Affairs, when I happened to touch on the subject of liquor in schools. He laughed at my apprehensions, and explained that the bottles contained cow's milk, a perfectly innocuous liquid. I exclaimed that this very well showed the wisdom and sagacity of his people, and observed that milk would supply the growing bodies of the children with the vital essences which they so needed at their stage in life. But it appeared that it was not so simple as that. The distribution of milk to schools had only just been begun, and was merely a method of dumping waste milk. Cows had multiplied so exceedingly in the past few years that the supply of milk was far in excess of the demand, and this had resulted in a serious slump in prices. The Slamecksan or Low Heel party were in control of the Government, and the only remedy they had suggested was that new markets should be created. I remarked that common-sense seemed to suggest that the number of cows should be reduced, for if there was no demand for a product surely no market could be created. He replied that the demand could be created, for the Lilliputians were like children in that matter; even if they were in want of a thing, they made no demand for it until it was offered to them, so that the merchants could often, by mere force of words, create a market for a product even if there was no real want of it.

As I have mentioned before, I had several conversations with the wife of Flimnap, the Treasurer, and during one of these she had mentioned that she used great quantities of milk powder, a commodity that was imported from Blefuscu. I went into this matter with Reldresal, and demanded of him why the surplus milk produced in Lilliput should not be converted into milk powder. He evinced surprise at my knowledge of this matter, and said that as far as he could ascertain there was no reason why the milk powder should not be manufactured in Lilliput. Whether it was lack of enterprise on the part of the manufacturers or neglect of the Government in not encouraging the manufacturers he could not tell. This state of apathy naturally lowered very considerably my estimation of the Lilliputian Government, especially when I compared it with our most enlightened Government at home. Nor was my opinion of the Lilliputian intelligence any higher when I considered that it had been necessary for them to have an overplus of milk before they realised the value of it for growing children.

Young Men Shall See Visions.

[The following article, written by a member of the Sixth. last year, is reproduced by courtesy of the "Farnham Herald," in whose columns it appeared.]

"allured to brighter worlds, and led the way."

The awe, amounting at times to ancestor-worship, in which many an ancient English house holds its forbears, has often been condemned as unambitious; we are told that to lose ourselves in the past will hamper progress in the future. Be that as it may, the substantial past—when we are out of it—is a more beautiful thing than the insubstantial future or the distressingly substantial present. The last century, with its industrial revolution and mass production, with its attack of Victorianism which we have never yet thrown off, has driven all the pure romance out of life. It is all very well to say that the detective novel, the newspaper competition, horse-racing, sweepstakes and the cross-word puzzle have filled the need for adventure and for the occupation of awakening intelligence, but it is not enough, for these things are as a mop to stem a Niagara of need. Chivalry has gone with the advent of the typist and an "athletic" womanhood; the dignity of the accolade has fallen before the plebeian money-baron; comradeship in arms has given place to a water-rat existence in a shell-hole, waiting for a shell to come from nowhere to obliterate the last spark of useless life. Our life is drab; the dull round of train and bus catching, office-work and homecoming has taken the light from us; our clothes have become equally drab; we rarely rise above a black suit and a bowler hat.

The only way to recapture this romance, a more glorious romance, since we can idealise it, is to read about it and write about it; it is obviously foolish to expect people to return to it. Films should be produced dealing with the pageantry of Merrie England, the chivalry of the Crusades, the heroism and splendour of Crécy, Poitiers and Agincourt. Let us follow such a company as the archers of Conan Doyle in their campaigns on foreign fields; let us seek honour and fame with such a one as Sir Nigel or John Chandos instead of seeing endless pictures of rich men cuddling each other's wives. Let us have films of the Arthurian cycle; let us ride out in the quest of the Holy Grail with the knights of the Round Table; let us see Robin Hood outwitting the Sheriff of Nottingham. Let the cinema doors be for us:

“Charm’d magic casements, opening on the foam
Of perilous seas, in faery lands forlorn,” rather than grim gateways whose message to the youth of to-day is akin to Dante’s “all hope abandon, ye who enter here.” Let us have stirring tales of deeds beyond the seas; let us follow Dampier, Kidd, and all the brood of the “Skull and Crossbones” in search of loot on the high seas. Give us tales of the old sea-dogs, sail out with Drake, Hawkins and Raleigh, snatch up perhaps, some “Stately Spanish galleon coming from the isthmus,

Dipping through the Tropics by the palm-green shores,
With a cargo of diamonds,
Emeralds and amethysts,
Topazes, and cinnamon, and gold moidores.”

Let the silver screen become a magic curtain, parting to reveal a mystic world in which move “the antique shapes of kings and kesars straunge and rare.” Let us ride out through this country as Spenser’s Red Cross Knight set out, bound on greatest Gloriana’s quest; let us go “a-colonelling” with Sir Hudibras among such champions as Orsin, Talgol, Magnano, Colon and Trulla the heroine. Let us revel in the forceful honesty, and freedom from American suggestiveness, of the Epic; the story of Beowulf, the roving of Ulysses, the love of Æneas for Dido, Queen of Carthage, and the fall of Troy offer the greatest source of scenario subject-matter of all time.

In truth, it is time that we, who are still the foremost nation for individuality and independence in the world, rebelled against this tyranny from Hollywood. We have had more than enough of Clark Gable, Mae West, Janet Gaynor, Norma Shearer and all the remaining products of a sex-enslaved film-colony. It is time we told the film-director what we want and that we mean to get it. Let them search out the many gems “of purest ray serene” from the past and show that they are worth the fabulous sums they draw annually.

Mildenhall to Melbourne.

No-one who reads the above title will, I hope, look for a detailed account of that great performance which has stamped 1934 as a date to be remembered in the history of aviation. The reader has probably studied the newspaper accounts of the great flight, and so no purpose would be served if this article were to repeat what has already been said there.

Rather, then, let us first look into the past. It was on December 17th, 1903, that the first flight in a motor-driven aeroplane took place. It was made by Orville Wright, an American, who had been helped in his invention by his brother, Wilbur, and the machine was in the air for not quite a full minute. People could not at first believe this was true, but improvements were made by the brothers, and in 1905 Wilbur Wright was able to make a flight of 38 minutes' duration, covering a distance of 24 miles. What a marvellous feat it was in those days! Interest had been aroused, and on July 25th, 1909, a daring Frenchman, Louis Blériot, flew across the English Channel. From that time to this experiments have been conducted and improvements introduced which have brought the aeroplane to its present state of proficiency.

When we realise what great progress has been made in so comparatively short a time, it makes us wonder what will be happening a few years hence. Does a limit exist? Will there come a time when the march of modern science will be forced to a halt? Will aeroplanes ever become as common as motor-cars? Will there be developments in the hitherto almost untouched stratosphere? What possibilities and what chances there are for the inventive and progressive mind in the vast spaces above us!

But the time has come for a few remarks on the actual race itself. We who are British naturally find our first thought to be of the great triumph for British aeroplanes and British men. Though the Black Comet, unlike that wise bird the thrush, "never would recapture that first fine careless rapture," Britain came through with flying colours. We are proud of those British machines and of those British men, and certain spaces in our daily newspapers would have us be proud, too, of certain articles that were used in the race—anything from breakfast foods to fountain pens; but we must draw a line somewhere.

Nevertheless, Britain did not have all her own way. It cannot be denied that the Dutchmen and the Americans made a splendid race of it; so splendid, in fact, that whatever improvements are made in the future, this race will always be looked upon as one of the main girders in the gigantic structure of aerial development.

Small Orchestras.

Many a hopeful band of amateur musicians, inspired by a particularly fine rendering of some well-known orchestral work played by a famous symphony orchestra under a great conductor, have gathered together to form a miniature orchestra of their own, so that they, too, may be able to reproduce the work as they have heard it.

Sometimes such miniature orchestras are highly successful; sometimes, on the other hand, they fail utterly. Much of their success or failure depends upon the man who founds the orchestra and selects the players, for it is presumed that he himself will conduct them. He need not be an expert musician, but he should have a fair knowledge of musical theory, instrumentation and the art of conducting. Above all things, he needs infinite patience and tact.

His great difficulty will be obtaining sufficient instrumentalists of the right sort. This may sound strange when one considers the vast number of amateur musicians there are, but it is true.

When he calls for volunteers he will find a superfluity of violinists, a sufficiency of 'cellists, a few flautists and trumpeters; and fewer still viola and oboe players will answer his appeal. The musical amateur but rarely takes up performance on the other orchestral instruments, partly because they are not truly solo instruments, and partly because they are not easy to play. The double-bass, the cor anglais, the clarinet, the basset-horn, the bassoon, the French horn, the trombone and the Wagner tuba are left to the student and professional musician. This is unfortunate, as with the exception of the cor anglais, the basset-horn and the Wagner tuba, the rest of these instruments are necessary, even to a miniature orchestra. The conductor must, therefore, try to persuade some enthusiasts to study these various instruments, and in his tact and powers of persuasion lies the overcoming of the first great obstacle.

Supposing that he has at last obtained sufficient performers on the various necessary instruments, the conductor's next big task is to arrange the various sections of the miniature orchestra in such a way that they are capable of reproducing any normal orchestral work. He will have to maintain the balance of tone and volume, and this depends on his grouping and arrangement of the different players.

Thus, when the miniature orchestra assembles for its first rehearsal, it will probably consist of three first violins, two second violins, two violas, two 'cellos, a double-bass, a flute, an oboe, a clarinet, a bassoon, two horns, a trumpet and a trombone. Of course, there will also be the usual percussion instruments; drums and triangles; whether to add a pianoforte, not truly an orchestral instrument, to supply the deficiency of a harp, is at the discretion of the conductor. It should be mentioned that many light orchestras have taken this step with great success.

Systematic and regular rehearsals, and the selection of suitable programmes, are all that remain to assure the complete success of the miniature orchestra. The chief share of both these tasks falls upon the conductor. He is, indeed, an important man.

It may be suggested that the symphonies of Mozart and Haydn, suites and overtures by later composers, and accompaniments to operatic arias, or concertos for solo instruments with orchestra, are all suitable works for a miniature orchestra.

Where such an orchestra is not possible, enthusiasts can always fall back on the pianoforte quintet, that is, the ordinary string quartet of two violins, viola and violoncello, with the addition of pianoforte. Such a combination can always be augmented by wind, and its possibilities do not seem to be fully realised by amateurs. For convenience, practicability, and the pleasure it gives, it is second to none.

Speak-Easy.

Friends, Romans, Countrymen . . .

There is already, I am told, a report of the Debating Society in this issue of the Magazine; but this is here, not as some of you may imagine, to fill up space, but to encourage those boys who have not yet been to a meeting of the aforesaid (good term this—used by lawyers). Some people seem to place debates on a level with the Old Ladies' Friendly Society, or the Home for Lost Clergy. Not so. They are absolutely wrong. Not only do these debates teach you to stand up and express your views, but they also give you a sense of humour.

Speaking of humour. A man was once run over by a tank. Three weeks later, when he came to, the nurse said: "You will be all right—there is nothing to worry about." But the man was not feeling too well, and so, when the doctor came, he asked what was wrong with him. The doctor said: "Well, my man, I am sorry to tell you that every bone in your body is broken, except your funny bone." And the man died—he laughed himself to death. What a sense of humour!

Debating also gives you imagination. We looked "imagination" up in the dictionary, and it said: "Imagination is a mental image." We always thought that a mental image was something in which a Chinaman smoked opium.

But as you were. The debate starts when the chairman arrives and the minutes of the last meeting are ticked off. There are a few boys who, on being entertained to their first debate, are too nervous to speak. To these I say: "Be tough, grit your teeth with sand, park your gum, and let it go (not the gum, but your voice). Remember the famous expression of Sir Harry Lauder's: "Where there is a will there are relations." . . .

So lend me your ears! (Not that I want them, but a great debater once said it).

A Protest.

This is not an article, but a protest against the shameful way in which contributions to the School Magazine are extorted from unwilling people. A magazine is a good thing at a certain price and as long as it is purely voluntary, but when the whole Upper School is dragooned into becoming bad journalists, it is time the Magazine stopped, for the price is too high.

Take my own case, for example. I am a member of the Sixth; the Sixth are a class of idle people enjoying a perpetual Nirvana; therefore I have nothing to do but write articles. Very neat. Only it happens not to be true. It is a libel, not only on myself, but also on that industrious body to which I belong. But what happens? I am put under the charge of two inhuman taskmasters, who have the pleasure or otherwise of coming to School on the same vehicle as myself. They are instructed to provide me with a subject on which to write. To them are added other evilly disposed persons, and they all combine to propose the most impossible titles.

Here are some examples. "A" suggests a work on the "League of Nations," because a relative of mine once wrote an article about it. "B" votes for "Ping-Pong," "C," who thinks I belong to the Red Tie movement proposes a treatise on "Communism," or "Socialism," which he thinks is the same thing. "D" puts forward "Song Writers," having in mind those queer people who compose such gems as "Isle of Tralee." Pause here for silent meditation.

Continuing with my alphabet, I come to the letter "E"—a good letter that. He volunteers to give me the points of an article on the Cinema. But I am afraid I am tiring you and getting a little advanced, so I will leave the rest to a future date. By then, perhaps, you will have mastered the intricacies of the alphabet.

Remember, this is a protest.

Variety.

Nothing has since been heard of the boy, who, on finding that someone else had taken his 11 o'clock milk, said, "I don't care a straw."

There was a House Match this term in which no appeal for offside was heard. Playing cricket for a change?

A member of the Debating Society states that some people can trace their family trees even to the branches upon which their ancestors swung.

Seeing red—the motorist who complains that Farnham Traffic Signals haven't enough go in them.

"This is where we take logs," said the caretaker, as he stoked up the boiler.

In the limelight—the man who refused to be given next year's Derby winner, because he hadn't a stable to put it in.

An unpleasant story is going round about a boy who, after an unusual lunch, visited the Headmaster's study and— Well, we will not repeat the story, and we absolutely refuse to divulge its genesis.

A more amusing story is of a Sixth Form boy who was punctual for a class.

Reply to Form II. correspondent: No, Hefty is not investing your milk money in Savings Certificates.

Samuel Pepys' Account of the Steeplechase, October 31st, 1934.

The Headmaster and members of his staff did arrange that on this day the School Steeplechase should take place.

It being an exceeding cold day I did think to keep on my overcoate, but on consideration did not. After getting my feete thoroughly trodden on while waiting for the start, did find myself carried along Morley Road, upp Tilford Road, and into Menin Way; which I declare is most well named, for, after having deposited mine face in the mudd, I called it divers names which it would be unwise to enter herein.

In Old Compton Lane I did suddenly realise that I was alone, and assuming the others were behind me, did slacken my pace slightly. After alternately running and walking for a seemingly monstrous long time, I did partake of a drink from Mother Ludlam's Cave. Then feeling greatly refreshed I sallied forth again, and seeing no-one behind me, did feel mightily proude that I should be soe far ahead of everyone. When in Old Compton Lane I did get the stitch in my side, but remembering the proverb, "A stitch in time saves nine," I went on boldly. At last in sight of the school I did put on a spurt, there being several people watching, and as I finished they did clap their hands together and shout. I then did wait to see who would be second, each moment my chest swelling with pride to see how far behind they were. After five minutes, when I was just ready to burst, I did notice that the spektators had disappeared. I did immediately make enquiries of a fellow who said I was last instead of first. On entering the cloke-room I was greeted with a monstrous great cheer from other steepplechasers.

Feeling unspeakably dejected I did creep into my clothes like a snail, and so home.

Cricket.

The results of the last cricket season were not good, nor were they bad. If we look only at the First XI's results we may feel very discouraged, but if we consider all matches we find some cause for optimism. The First lost eight, the Second won seven, and the Juniors won three. Although the First XI's activities are of chief interest, yet when we play First, Second, and Junior matches we should examine all results before praising or passing censure. Considered in this light, the season was not a failure, as we won more than we lost, and in most of those we lost, we just failed to "get there." In addition, our fixtures are not meant to be walk-overs. We play many stiff games and even in such a fixture as that with the Parents the result cannot be foretold.

There is not much that I can say about individuals, but all elevens showed good team spirit. Taylor captained the First quite well, and utilised what bowling material we had to good purpose. He was handicapped here because there was little variety. Baldwin made an excellent Vice-Captain, although his bowling was not as accurate as it was last year. These two set a good example in fielding. Thurston, unfortunately for us, called away on business early in the term, did excellent things with the ball in the few matches he played, and began to show promise with the bat. Stewart "stone-walled" very effectively on several occasions, and Job was as stylish as ever. Kirk and Woollaston did well on occasion.

The fielding was better this year, though not as good as it ought to be. The ball was not picked up and returned smartly, and catches were rarely anticipated. Runs were also given away by poor covering. The running between the wickets was bad. The first run must be run quickly. We must correlate athletics with cricket and break the record over twenty yards.

Our First XI. bowling lacked guile, but our Juniors overflowed with it. "Off-break" Levison and "swerving" Allen should be useful next year, and Prince might show us "like father, like son."

The Second XI. served us well. Ably led by Ashton at first, and later by Eavis, they piled victory on victory, and when they lost they went down fighting, with victory in sight but not quite attainable.

Colours were re-awarded to Taylor and Baldwin, and newly-awarded to Job and Stewart at the end of the season.

Athletics.

Three boys from the School were included in the team chosen to represent Surrey in the Inter-County Championships, held at Blackpool on July 21st, at which 19 counties were represented by nearly 600 competitors.

R. R. Kirk won the 100 yards in 11 secs., after winning both the first round and the semi-final in 11 1-5 secs.

Kirk and R. W. Brown equalled the existing record of 46 2-5 secs. in the preliminary round of the relay, but were beaten by Yorkshire in the final.

Brown ran in the 220 yards, and C. L. Larmer represented Surrey in the 220 yards non-championship event (boys 14—16).

Medals were awarded for the first three places, and Brown received in addition a standard medal for his time in the 220.

At the A.A.A. Junior Championships, held at Motspur Park in July, D. F. Wagstaff (School Athletics Captain) received a medal for his time in the 220 yards event (under 24 secs.).

School Colours were awarded to D. F. Wagstaff, A. H. Smith, C. L. Larmer, and R. F. Symes.

Larmer, R. R. Kirk, Blower and C. L. Merricks were awarded medals of the Farnham and District Schools' Athletic Association.

The Sports.

The School Sports were held on Wednesday, July 11th. D. F. Wagstaff gave an exhibition long jump on the new pit during the tea interval, and beat the School record of 20ft. 1in. No boy may now enter for more than four open medal events. ## Swimming.

A more successful team was sent to Sutton this summer to take part in the Inter-Schools' Championships, organised by the Surrey Secondary Schools' Swimming Association.

The "Under 15" team, consisting of L. P. Jepp, West, Lambert, Lillywhite and J. O. Levison, won the Junior Challenge Cup (presented by H. Falkner, Esq.) with a time of 5 mins. 23 4-5 secs., each boy swimming 75 yards. The cup has not been won by the School since 1901.

The "Under 18" team—Harper, F. T. Holmes, Huckin, L. P. Jepp and D. W. C. Jepp—were second to Sutton County School in the Senior Challenge Cup.

Diving.—L. P. Jepp, D. W. C. Jepp and F. T. Holmes, representing the School, lost to Tiffins, Kingston, by one point. D. W. C. Jepp tied with J. Odler (Tiffins) for the A.D.A. Cup for the best individual diver, and since a second series of dives resulted in a tie, each boy will hold the cup for six months.

D. Jepp was also second in the quarter-mile (open), F. P. Lambert was third in the "Under 14" breast stroke championship, and P. Huckin came fourth in the 220 yards (open) for the championship shield.

Diving, junior (teams of three).—1, Morley (J. O. Levison, J. J. Lowry and D. J. Reeve),  $63\frac{1}{2}$  points; 2, Childe,  $62\frac{1}{2}$ ; 3, Harding and Massingberd, 60; 5, School,  $58\frac{1}{2}$ .

Inter-House Swimming Cup.—1, School, 69 points; 2, Morley,  $48\frac{1}{2}$ ; 3, Harding, 32; 4, Childe, 25; 5, Massingberd,  $10\frac{1}{2}$ .

D. W. C. Jepp was awarded School Colours for Swimming.

Town Sports.

The School was, as usual, very well represented in the Farnham Aquatic Sports and carried off a large proportion of the prizes.

D. W. Jepp won the Senior Championship (Burnham Cup), swimming the three lengths in a record time of 72 2-5 secs., which is 1 2-5 secs. faster than the previous record.

Other successes include:

Junior Championship (under 13), 100 Yards (Ladies' Cup).—1, F. P. Lambert. Time: 1 min. 38 secs.

Junior Championship (under 16), 100 Yards (Seilern Cup).—1, L. P. Jepp; 2, J. O. Levison. Time: 1 min. 19 3-5 secs.

Boys' Handicap (13-16), Two Lengths.—1, J. Levison; 2, L. P. Jepp.

Diving (under 16).—1, F. P. Lambert, 49 points; 2, L. P. Jepp, 42 points.

Lambert also won the Gentlemen's Obstacle Race.

The School Run.

A miserably cold and dull day on Wednesday, October 31st, mattered but little to the 112 entrants who completed the course. P. E. Huckin finished in a time of 27 mins. 1 2-5 secs., having taken the lead early and running strongly all the way. D. S. Dalton was the first Junior home, and ran into ninth place—an excellent feat. For the Inter-House Contest, the first ten of each House counted in the Open, and the first eight in the Junior. Results:—Open: 1, Childe, 184 points; 2, School, 229; 3, Harding, 249; 4, Morley, 322; 5, Massingberd, 372. Junior: 1, School, 119 points; 2, Massingberd, 123; 3, Childe, 127; 4, Morley, 151. ## School Shooting.

A remarkably high standard of shooting was maintained throughout the year, only one match out of twelve being lost. The fourth place obtained in the S.M.R.C. Junior Spring Competition speaks extremely well of our team.

School Colours have been awarded to A. E. Job and I. C. Patrick, and re-awarded to G. M. Elphick and B. G. Barnard, who also received the following awards:

G. M. Elphick: Bell Medal (best match average, deliberate, 96.3); "Daily Mail" Certificate (second best match average, timed, 95.15); "News of the World" Certificate (highest match score, timed, 98).

House Notes.

CHILDE.

A consistent performance in most Inter-House activities enabled us, once again, to obtain second place in the Cock-House table. By winning three of the four matches, the Senior team tied with Massingberd and School House for the Cricket Cup, while two wins by the Junior team obtained for us third place. A good total of 463 in the last stage of the Shooting Competition gave us third place. As in previous years, the Swimming was a little weak, and consequently we had to be satisfied with fourth place. This year a good start has been made in the Football, as we have so far won all Senior matches, and by the Seniors winning the Cross-Country Cup and a substantial number of Cock-House points has been obtained. D.W.T.

HARDING.

We finished third for the Cock-House Shield in the school year 1933-34, and we shall have to put forth our utmost this year if we are to improve on that position. The Senior Football has been very weak, but the Juniors have done extremely well to win all their matches. The number of entries we received for the School Cross-Country Run was very bad—in fact the Juniors failed to be placed through lack of competitors; this is most unlike Harding traditions, and let us obliterate the stain by a really good entry for the Boxing. This year's Shooting promises to be quite fair, and we have a good number of new boys from which to fill the vacancies of last year's team. So, come on, Harding! Let everybody do his best. A.E.J.

MASSINGBERD.

After having shared the Cricket Cup with Childe and School House, and, for some unknown reason, lost the Shooting Cup to Harding, we finished fourth on the Cock-House list. This term our Senior Football team has been most unfortunate to lose every match, whilst the best the Juniors can show are two goal-less draws, giving them fourth place. Although a Massingberd man was third home in the Cross-Country Run, the Seniors were placed fifth. The Juniors, however, are to be congratulated on running into second place. The Shooting is up to the usual standard, as we will demonstrate in the Inter-House Competition. Members are asked to note that a large entry for the Boxing will be extremely useful, seeing that we appear to be somewhat "in the cart." B.G.B.

MORLEY.

The number of members remains at forty-six. Last term's Shooting was disappointing, as we were fifth with the poor score of 395. In the Inter-House Cricket both the Seniors and Juniors were fourth. Although we were last in the Cock-House table, the gloom was not altogether unrelieved, for in the Inter-House Swimming we gained second place. The Senior Football team is to be congratulated in that they have won three games out of four; unfortunately, the Juniors have lost three games, and have only managed to draw one. For the School Run there were thirty entries, and although our position was fourth in both Open and Junior, it is gratifying to find such a large entry; indeed this enthusiasm is more to be commended than a first place gained with a small entry. The improvements that have taken place must be kept up, and I hope every member of the House who is physically capable will enter for the Boxing.

SCHOOL.

Brilliant performances in all sport enabled us to win for the first time the Cock-House Shield. These exceptional performances were the result of the "wonderful willing spirit" shown by everybody in the House and of the fine leadership of R. R. Stewart, who did his utmost for School House. We started at the beginning of last term with a substantial lead in Cock-House points—a lead which was later to be considerably increased. It was a very successful year, for we won the Junior Football, Junior Cross-Country, Boxing, Senior and Junior Athletics, and were second in the Senior Cross-Country and Football; finally, we tied for first place in Senior Cricket, won the Junior, and completed the year by winning the Swimming Cup. Only in Shooting were we weak, finishing fourth. Truly a meritorious performance! Well, we must live for the present and forget last year's efforts, striving again to repeat those successes. So far only the Cross-Country has been decided, our entries were really good, and the results were up to last year's standard—Seniors second and Juniors first. Well done, Juniors! In Football the Seniors are third and Juniors second, having lost only one match. However, after next term's matches we hope to improve these positions. Finally, the Boxing looms up in the near future, and to hold the cup every member of the House who can must enter, for each entry means a point.

SUMMER GENERAL MEETING.

The Summer General Meeting was held at the School on Saturday, July 7th, the Headmaster (Mr. F. A. Morgan) presiding.

The Membership Secretary (Mr. G. H. Bacon) reported a membership of 341, an increase of five since the last General Meeting. The secretaries of the various activities presented their reports, which are to be found under their respective headings on other pages of the Magazine.

After some discussion it was resolved that the constitution of the General Committee be increased from twenty to twenty-one elected members, seven members to be elected each year to serve for a term of three consecutive years.

A donation was made from the Association's Funds to the School Prize Fund.

THE SUMMER RE-UNION.

Is the triangular contest with the London Athletic Club and Godalming and District Athletic Club to be an annual fixture? We may well hope so, for it provides a splendid magnet (if any were needed) to attract Old Boys from far and wide to the Annual Re-Union. This year (Saturday, July 28th) a numerous gathering was treated to an exhilarating contest in which the O.F.A. did well to lose by only one point. But you will find this fully set out under the A.C. report, and our concern here is with more "sporting" events.

After physical needs had been satisfied with tea and merit rewarded with medals from the hands of Mrs. Morgan, the company settled down to the serious business of the evening. First, a cricket match—O.F.A. v. Ladies: a remarkable and thrilling contest with "ad hoc" rules. The gallant gentlemen not only bowled left-hand, fielded left hand and caught left hand—they batted with an open umbrella in the left hand and made their hits with a back-hand motion. Alas! they could not carry their chivalry to the point of losing, as the scores show:

Ladies.—Miss Robins, 4; Miss Talbot, 0; Mrs. Parsons, 1; Miss Williams, 0; Miss Baker, 14; Miss Allen, 0; Miss Patrick, 0; Miss Penney, 12; Miss Smith, 2; Miss Hillyer, 0; Miss Bailey, not out, 1; extras, 35. Total, 69.

O.F.A.—F. O. M. Taylor, 12; L. E. Lord, 9; E. G. Glynn, 17; Parsons, 0; A. J. Hillyer, 17; W. Blake, 0; R. J. Page, 10; J. E. Sims, 6; J. Wing, 0; E. A. Thurston, 4; R. H. M. Taylor, 5; extras, 2. Total, 82.

After these strenuous exercises came comic races, the prizes for which were distributed by Mrs. Kingcome. Results:

Three-Legged.—1, W. A. Smallman and T. B. Penney; 2, W. S. Smallman and L. F. G. Wright; 3, F. Street and F. E. Hobbs.

Egg and Spoon, ladies.—1, Miss J. Allen; 2, Miss K. Homan; 3, Miss D. Baker.

Smoking Race, mixed.—1, Miss Homan and H. Robins; 2, Miss Allen and N. F. Lowry; 3, Miss V. Ridout and J. Clark.

Three-Legged, mixed.—1, Miss J. Robins and E. G. Glynn; 2, Mrs. Wells and W. H. Blake; 3, Miss W. Shelton and E. J. Williams.

And, of course, at the end of everything, there was dancing on the green to the music of Cyril Fisher's Band.

O.F.A. MEMORIAL FIELD.

At long last the levelling is completed and the grass is up. But we have an overdraft of £120.

The Committee decided that it would be fatal to leave the scheme derelict simply because we were not able to raise the necessary money last summer. They were confident that the money would soon be forthcoming; so much so, that three of the Committee, in order to secure the overdraft, gave a personal guarantee to the Bank. But it is imperative that the deficit be wiped out as soon as possible.

The number of profitable "Efforts" is limited, but the field of direct donations has not yet been fully explored, and I hope that many Old Boys and friends of the School will give generously—and quickly. This is really an "S.O.S.," and I hope it will be treated as such.

I think that it ought to be placed on record that, when we dealt with the estimates both for sowing and for turfing, we found that Messrs. Bide and Sons, out of their affection for the School as Old Farnhamians, put in a considerably lower figure than anyone else, because they were content to forego all profit.

There is one other thing. All of us who have any imagination have been thrilled with the romantic way in which faith has slowly but surely removed mountains, and turned a zig-zag cabbage patch into a level, green meadow. But I think we ought also to be filled with admiration for the two workmen, Mr. Legge and Mr. Kelly, who have carried out the work. Through all sorts of weather, meeting with all sorts of difficulties, they have carried on. They have, at any rate, fashioned a standing memorial to the doggedness and deftness of men who go by the inappropriate name of "unskilled labourers."

Since the last issue of the Magazine, donations have been received as follows: Anonymous, £1 and 5s.; a "Sporting Effort" (per Mrs. W. Elphick), £4; T. M. Lee, 5s.; Mr. E. M. Jepp, £1 1s.; Messrs. W. and H. Elphick, £1 1s.; Mr. J. R. Nash, £1 1s.; D. C. Horry, 5s.; G. J. Knotts, 5s.; Mr. F. R. Wallis, £3 3s.; Mr. R. W. Mason, £3 3s.; R. H. Keable, £1; W. N. B. George, 5s.; C. J. Comer, 5s.; A. Chennells, 5s.

F.A.M.

INSURANCE BUREAU.

The year has been a most encouraging one after the somewhat depressing results of last year. The tide has definitely turned, even though not to the spring tide level of two years ago. Briefly the amount secured this year amounts to about £55—about double last year's results.

It is good to be able to report that this amount is built up of small cases from a number of members, and does not include any of the big cases which went to swell the boom years. We want the big cases, too, but a number of small ones is much healthier than a few big ones, and shows that the scheme has taken definite hold and has not yet exhausted its interest.

We now have a useful amount of interest falling due annually, and we shall be considering whether it is the wiser policy to leave this to accumulate, or whether it should be put to more immediate purposes.

In any case, the need for us all to keep the scheme in mind whenever occasion presents itself remains, remembering that the ultimate aim is the founding of a school-leaving scholarship upon a scale that has rarely been attempted by an Association of this size and character.

G.M.A.

ATHLETIC CLUB.

The Club failed to live up to its high reputation of previous years, partly due to lack of support and partly to the fact that a late start was made. The Club was duly affiliated to the A.A.A. on June 22nd. Godalming scored over us on their own ground, but were in turn defeated by the Old Boys in the triangular match on Re-Union Day. A new event in the annual School Sports—a medley relay between the School and the O.F.A.—resulted in a good victory for a strong Old Boys' team after a sporting race. With more keenness and an increase in active members, there is no reason why the O.F.A. should not repeat their successes of two years ago.

MISCELLANEOUS ACTIVITIES OF OLD BOYS.

In Open Handicaps at the Surrey Constabulary Sports held at Woking on July 21st, C. E. Jones and E. J. Williams were second in the 100 Yards and 880 Yards respectively. C. E. Jones also scored many other successes in club and open contests.

O.F.A. Athletic Club v. Godalming A.C.: June 29th, 1934.

The weakness of the Old Boys in the longer races brought about their defeat in the opening fixture of the season at Godalming. The latter, however, fielded one of the strongest sides they have yet turned out, and were worthy winners. The standard of performances was greatly improved, particularly in the Long Jump. Detailed Results:

O.F.A. Athletic Club v. Aldershot C.H.S. Old Boys: July 16th, 1934.

The third fixture with Aldershot proved unlucky for the Old Boys: despite winning four events, they were well beaten. The standard of performances was again very high, D. F. Wagstaff excelling in a splendid long jump. Detailed results:

RE-UNION DAY.

London A.C.—Godalming A.C.—O.F.A.A.C.: July 28th, 1934.

The Old Boys rose to the occasion splendidly, and with a little luck might have beaten their better known rivals from London; as it was they ran them to a one-point margin and soundly beat Godalming. Once again the sprinters bore the brunt of the work, and in winning the relay accomplished a fine performance. D. F. Wagstaff excelled himself with a magnificent jump of 22 feet, completely outclassing his rivals.

Points.—5 for 1st; 3 for 2nd; 2 for 3rd; 1 for 4th. Relay: 6 for 1st; 3 for 2nd.

MINIATURE RIFLE CLUB.

The Club is in good shape and looking forward to a successful season. We could, however, do with some more keen members, especially some of the good shots who have just left School. Anyone interested is invited to the practices which take place at the School Range on Tuesdays, at 7.30 p.m. Make a note of it!

BADMINTON CLUB, SEASON 1934-5.

It was at first decided not to run the Badminton Club this winter as so few seemed interested in it, but the small band of O.F.A. badminton enthusiasts got together again in an effort to make it a success this time. The result is a healthier looking membership—although that is still very low—and there is every prospect of a successful season from every point of view.

Matches have been arranged, the first three or four of which will have been played by the time the Magazine is published.

The subscription is 15s., payable in advance, but this will be reduced to members joining after Christmas. A very warm welcome will be extended to new members, whether they are experienced players or just beginners.

R.H.M.T.

O.F. FOOTBALL CLUB.

In October the Club had to withdraw from the Surrey Junior League and Cup, owing to the difficulty of getting together a representative team each week. The Club had about 16 "signed on" members, but only about half of these reside and work locally. During the last year or two older members of the team have dropped out for various reasons, and there has been a decrease in the supply of new players from the School. Perhaps these few lines will cause some heart-searchings among Old Boys who live near Farnham, and as a result of these salutary exercises the O.F.A. may once again play a worthy part in local football.

CRICKET CLUB.

Despite the fact that we lost more games than we won, we can look back upon the 1934 cricket season as a very successful one, if only for the reason that the very enjoyable games provided a most pleasant pastime and means of re-union for a number of Old Boys.

We may pride ourselves that in the last two years we have made a great step forward, and are now playing cricket which is really worth while against very worthy opponents.

Our actual record for the season was: Played 18, won 6, drawn 3, lost 9.

It will be seen how keenly the games were contested when I remark that, of the games in which we suffered defeat, three were lost by less than 10 runs, and in one case by a margin of only one run.

A word of praise must be given to the weather, for not a single match was cancelled owing to rain.

The team was most ably led (as it has been for the last two seasons) by L. E. Lord, assisted by L. E. Furlonger as vice-captain. (There must be something in the initials "L.E.")

These two, together with the Hon. Secretary (E. G. Glynn), formed the selection committee; whilst J. Wing, R. Wells and E. C. Patrick were members of the general committee. J. Wing headed the batting averages with an average of 21, his total of 252 runs for the season including a brilliant 80 scored against St. Michael's Club at Camberley.

The bowling honours go to L. E. Lord, who claimed 40 wickets for an average of 7.85 runs. So much for the season as a whole. Now I come to the great match of the year (the first one of its kind). This was the all-day match against Farnham Town, played on Tuesday, August 7th, during the Farnham Cricket Week.

This fixture was not limited to the Cricket Club but was thrown open to the Association, so that any Old Boy who had represented his county could come and help us show Farnham what cricketers the School turns out.

Alas, we were unable to find any of these "county" men, but eventually we had, on paper, a team which we were sure could beat any team for miles around.

But again, alack and alas, several of these players, owing to business reasons, were unable to play. However, in the end we managed to raise a very good representative team, and we all looked forward to the great day. The great day arrived . . . and so did the rain!! The fine weather for which we had all been patting ourselves on the back had broken, and the rain appeared to be doing its best to wash the fixture out.

However, we made a start at 3 p.m., but the sodden state of the ground was no help to our bowlers, and the Farnham team had 142 runs on the board with two wickets in hand when they declared, leaving us an hour in which to get the necessary runs. The task was well-nigh impossible; but some of our players thought it might be done and, going out at the bowling, took rather unnecessary risks, which in a number of cases proved fatal. However, the match ended in a draw, the Association having scored 81 for 8 wickets when stumps were drawn. The scores were:

Farnham.—C. A. Radford, b Till, 12; J. O. J. Stevens, run out, 13; W. Munfield, b Crowhurst, 20; R. Watson, run out, 1; V. F. S. Haggard, c Crowhurst, b Kingcome, 3; V. F. Ealand, c Glynn, b Kingcome, 5; L. F. Davies, not out, 33; G. D. Hale, c Glynn, b Crowhurst, 2; C. A. Maries, b Swan, 10; L. E. Davies, not out, 35; byes, 7; leg bye, 1. Total (for 8 wks., dec.), 142.

L. A. Gibson did not bat.

O.F.A.—A. J. Hillyer, b Haggard, 18; G. Acock, b Stevens, 0; D. Murphy, c Ealand, b Stevens, 0; J. C. Kingcome, b Haggard, 21; W. N. B. George, not out, 18; G. F. Till, c Munfield, b Haggard, 2; K. G. Crowhurst, c and b L. F. Davies, 15; J. W. Mack, c Stevens, b L. F. Davies, 4; L. E. Lord, lbw, b Haggard, 1; E. G. Glynn, not out, 0; byes, 2. Total (for 8 wks.), 81.

A. F. Swan did not bat.

The corresponding fixture for next season has already been made and is to be played in Farnham Park on Tuesday, August 6th, starting at 11.30 a.m. Will any Old Boy who would like to play in this match please let me know as early as possible in the season, so that this time we shall be able to give Farnham "the works." In any case, if you don't want to play, why not come along and help to make this match an unofficial Re-Union?

I cannot conclude these notes without thanking all those who have helped to make the past season such a success; particularly Mr. Morgan for the use of the School field, without which it would be impossible to run a team (we hope the grass is growing quickly on the Memorial Field), and Mr. Harrington and his son, who have acted as umpire and scorer respectively throughout the whole season.

NEWS OF OLD BOYS.

Many Old Boys will be interested to know that Mr. G. A. Ashton, who was Maths. Master at the School, 1922-1927, has been appointed to the Headmastership of Price's Grammar School, Fareham, Hants. From 1927 to 1934 he was Senior Maths. Master at Monmouth Grammar School.

Congratulations and good wishes to W. Turk (1919-1922) and A. T. F. Funnell (1917-1922) on the occasion of their respective marriages.

C. N. Brooker (1914-1918), Hon. Treasurer of the Association since its formation in 1925, is now at Felpham, near Bognor Regis, where he has been appointed to take charge of a new branch of the Midland Bank.

A. J. Baker (1925-1929) has joined the Palestine Police Force. He sailed on September 15th.

S. E. A. Glynn (1918-1923) has been appointed manager of Messrs. Watney, Combe, Reid and Co.'s agency at Hastings, Sussex.

J. C. Kingcome (1919-1930), W. T. Munfield (1919-1923), W. N. B. George (1929-1932), A. R. Stay (1928-1932), G. F. Till (1926-1928) and L. A. Gibson (1916-1923) played for Farnham C.C. during Farnham Cricket Week. Stay, Till and Gibson were in the team which opposed Surrey Club and Ground, including Jack Hobbs.

E. C. Patrick (1920-1926) has had a most successful season with the rifle. He obtained the highest score (103 ex. 105) for Surrey in the triangular XX. club match with Hampshire and Kent. He gained 5th place in the North London R.C. Championship (under King's Prize conditions). In September he won the City R.C. Championships and Gold Medal after a tie shoot with G. F. Booth, the English International. A score of 103 ex. 105 brought him the "Ross Patrick" Challenge Cup of the City R.C. He has won the Silver Jewel for Surrey County, presented by the English XX. Club. In the British Hundred Roll (an aggregate of six scores made throughout the season), open to the whole of the British Isles, he was 22nd in the final 100, with 610 ex. 630. Congratulations and more power to his trigger finger!

B. K. Ground (1923-1930) has obtained his Second Mate's Certificate, and has been appointed 4th Officer of the s.s. "Masula."

G. A. P. Hern (1927-1934) is evidently enjoying himself on the staff of the "Camberley News," working night and day!

Val Miller, who was a boarder in 1927, has had an adventurous life, not only before he came to us, but also since he left. He was born in Russia, and, with his parents, fled to Germany at the time of the Revolution. After leaving us he went back to Germany. Just as he was beginning to establish himself in the motor trade in Berlin he found himself in the midst of another revolution, comparatively bloodless perhaps, but not too pleasant, especially for a foreigner. Now he has found a haven, permanent we hope, in England, having secured a post with Ford's.

K. W. W. Bartlett (1925-1932) has obtained First Class Honours in Chemistry at London University, "somewhat to my surprise." He has also had what he describes as a minor success at Bisley, scoring 299 out of 300 in the "News of the World" Competition at Bisley in July. This was equal top score.

Congratulations to L. J. Stroud (1921-1933), who is at East London College. Not only has he got through Inter. Science, but he has managed at the same time to win a University Scholarship in Mathematics of £50 a year for two years. Sum success!

N. F. Lowry (1923-1931) has passed his Preliminary Examination for the National Certificate of Electrical Engineering.

A. Snewing (1930-1933) is having an interesting time in Holland, where he is learning "business." He speaks well of the middle class Dutch people as being sociable and well educated, but of the peasants he has formed a distinctly less favourable opinion. For the sake of international friendship we do not quote him verbatim. He hopes to be able to speak Dutch very soon. Anyone wishing to visit this interesting land of canals, where ships sail through the streets, should certainly get in touch with him. He is a pupil of C. and A. Modes.

P. J. Woods (1928-1933) is now poultry farming at Shamley Green. A strenuous life, apparently, for he rises at 5 a.m. and is out in the open all day. His letter contains references to Rhode Island Reds, Light Sussex, Leghorns, etc., etc., which stamp him as an expert. We hope he will soon be able to get time off to attend a Re-union.

We are delighted to hear that T. K. Gardner (1928-1934) has found his niche in life. He is an assistant master at Langton House School, Worthing, and is in love with his job. He proposes to study for Inter. Arts soon, but at present he is busy forming football and cross-country teams. Good wishes, Tom, for both projects.

R. M. Tatham (1929-1933), who has been languishing for a year as one of the "Daily Mail's" daily males has set his foot at last on the upward ladder. After a dozen unsuccessful attempts his 13th application has brought him the job of football reporter to the "News of the World." His working hours now fall during Saturday afternoon, when he watches such exponents of the Rugby game as Blackheath and the Harlequins. His observations are read the next day by 3,000,000 people (certified net sale). For five days in the week he devotes himself to free lance journalism, and aims at becoming sports editor. (We are quite willing to publish some more free lance journalism at our usual rates.—Ed.).

Latest news: R.M.T. has had an article accepted by the "Star," and is hoping to be given a mid-week soccer by the London Press Association.

Our best wishes to Ludwig Israel (1930-1931), who is reading for the Ph.D. degree at a German University (name unknown at present). He asks after the boarders of his year, and hopes to visit England in 1935 in order to study documents for his thesis. We shall all be glad to see "Luddy" again.

D. J. Carter (1922-1929) is now playing for the 1st XV. of the Civil Service.

W. S. L. Smallman (1927-1933) is now second string in the cross-country team of London University.

W. A. Smallman (1927-1933) is doing great things at the Union Debates, and we hear that he is to take part in a forthcoming production of "Twelfth Night." Surely they will make him Sir Toby Belch. (Where, oh where is that "London Letter" you promised us, Eram?—Ed.).

S. G. Nash (1923-1926) is now on the technical staff of the Bristol Aeroplane Company as metallurgist-in-ordinary. His work has also to do with mechanical testing of aircraft and stress calculations. When at Farnborough he obtained the National Certificate in Mechanical Engineering, gaining the only two distinctions of his year. This year he passed the Higher Certificate, and is now reading for the A.M.I.Mech.E.

E. G. Boulton (1925-1929) is in a grocery business at Edgeware, and his brother, Jim, in "wireless" at Southend.

F. W. Grinstead (1921-1926) has given up hockey!

R. I. P.

And it came to pass that, when the Club for the kicking of the ball had ceased to be, there was weeping and gnashing of the teeth among the boys who are no longer boys. "What shall we do to be saved?" they cried. "For, lo, we shall surely wax and grow fat if there be no ball for us to hunt." So they went along the highways lamenting.

Now, when they had passed swiftly a Tavern on their right hand, and on their left hand, a holy Church—for it was a Sabbath morning—they came to a great hill. This they did climb till they came to a green and couchy park. There they saw hardy men comporting themselves vehemently, smiting—and failing to smite—with curiously shaped implements, balls far smaller than those they were wont to chase in the dear days that were no more. Then were their hearts filled with a great joy, and they did take up these weapons and strive mightily to do even as the warder of the green bade them. So for many weeks they strove, and wondrous things happened to them and to their weapons, and to the balls.

He of the Norman blood won great renown, and lost full half a stone and many a ball. And the good Knight Humphrey—he of the sinister ways—did vie with him; but, because it profited him nothing, he did throw down his weapons and hied him to the Tavern. Nor better did Leslie fare; and, because he smote not the ball, but his heart smote him, remembering that it was the Lord's Day, he betook him to the Church.

But Jack the Giant did carry on, yea, he did carry on, and great was the noise thereof. And Eddie, because he was a little man, did sing lustily to give him a good heart; yet was it all in vain, for he digged himself a pit, and his wrath did burn deep into his bowels. And Sir Oliver too was there—for he had married a wife—smiting lustily, and cutting many a slice, and crying for more, so that his doings were heralded abroad. And his small brother, Ralph of the Combe, was there, and he did pull mightily, and many a bunker did he haunt. Alexander, whilst striving with all his heart, did cry, "Oh that this too too solid flesh would melt," and he came to the last green, and he wept because there were no more holes to conquer. And many others were seen gambolling in that Park, winsome Alan, and Joseph o' the Hutch, and the goodly Arthur—whose heart was full set to stay the course; and the little lad who carried the clubs for his great brother, Sir Humphrey Mercer; and many another, all wearing the old school tie.

Now, when the year had gone full circle, they did stop and consider within themselves, and they cried aloud: "This is a piffling game, for it straineth pitifully purse and evil temper, and there is no comfort in it for a young man. We will go back again to the kicking of the ball." And they did.
