

THE FARNHAMIAN.

Vol. XXX, No. 2.

January, 1944.

Editorial Notes.

A few words are necessary to explain the smallness of this Farnhamian; one word, in fact, is enough—paper. Less of this important munition of war can be allotted to us, and that alone accounts for the abbreviated form of the present issue. We can only express two hopes: that matters of essential interest to both Present and Old Boys have been retained; and that the days of peace, soon to return, we hope, will prove more spacious for our contributors.

In the following accounts of our affairs will be found references to two camps—the Cadet Corps at Cranleigh and the Scouts at Alton. There was yet a third camp. We understand that a number of boys spent an enjoyable time with Mr. Crute at Colwyn Bay.

* * * *

Last November the Prefects and Sixth Form were invited to tea and entertainment at the Girls' Grammar School by their opposite numbers of the sister foundation. In July the hospitality was returned, in the form of tea, treasure hunt and games on the School Field. Fortunately the weather was kind. It is understood that a good time was had by all.

* * * *

The Savings Group, which since it was formed in 1940 has been under the care of Mr. Godsil, continues to flourish. In "Wings for Victory" Week the target was easily passed, the total raised amounting to £135.

* * * *

The early days of the term were overcast by two bereavements. R. A. Bicknell was taken ill with appendicitis in the summer holidays and died after an operation. He had been with us for some time and was to have entered the Third Form this year. He had earned the good opinion of all, and by his early death a life of promise has been cut short. Peter Hardings had only attended School for a few days when he was knocked down by a lorry and received injuries from which he died shortly after. The funerals of both these boys were attended by representatives of the School, but we should like to express here our deep sense of loss and our sincere sympathy with the parents concerned.

The following are the appointments for the Autumn Term:—

Prefects.—G. C. Ricketts (School Captain), K. C. Reeve, T. H. Kelly, G. A. Brehaut, J. W. Donaldson, P. E. Larby and L. S. Phillips.

Sub-Prefects.—A. J. Barter, J. M. Cadier, D. W. Chitty, T. Fletcher, B. T. Kirk, P. B. Morice, P. Nash, C. W. Rees, W. H. Sturt, G. S. Tilford and K. H. W. Tomlin.

Football.—P. Nash (Captain), W. H. Sturt (Vice-Captain), P. E. Larby (Committee Member).

Athletics.—G. A. Brehaut (Captain), B. T. Kirk (Vice-Captain) and P. E. Larby (Committee Member).

Boxing.—G. C. Ricketts (Captain), D. W. Chitty (Vice-Captain) and B. T. Kirk (Committee Member).

Chess.—S. Adler (Vice-President), K. Watts (Hon. Secretary) and J. W. Donaldson (Hon. Treasurer).

Debating Society.—K. C. Reeve (Vice-Chairman) and P. B. Morice (Hon. Secretary).

Assistant Librarian.—K. Watts.

Assistant Games Secretary.—T. H. Kelly.

Assistant Editor of the Magazine.—T. H. Kelly.

House Captains.—G. C. Ricketts (Childe), L. S. Phillips (Harding), W. H. Sturt (Massingberd), K. C. Reeve (Morley) and T. H. Kelly (School).

Valete.—P. B. Atkins, L. R. Archer, R. A. Bicknell, J. W. Brine, R. H. Collings, R. E. Clark, J. G. Fletcher, G. R. Frampton, J. W. Golding, David Griffiths, H. J. Gudge, S. O. Fry, R. I. Harris, D. R. Haynes, J. Holden, D. L. P. Hopkins, D. Hoyle, L. Hoyle, H. P. K. Jacobsohn, J. McMullon, A. R. Morgan, J. G. Noyes, M. B. Ogle, D. E. Oldham, L. F. Parsons, A. Player, G. M. D. Powell, P. W. Robinson, D. R. Skillin, D. H. Small, D. G. Sturt, R. J. Wallis, M. E. West, R. K. Windsor and R. V. Woods.

Salvete.—C. S. Alden, G. C. Archer, S. A. Armstrong, J. D. Backhurst, M. Barker, C. S. Bishop, W. F. A. Bodkin, H. G. W. Bodkin, P. C. Bowden, R. T. Brett, K. G. Brough, A. L. Brown, P. Buck, R. A. J. Cable, H. G. Cohn, C. J. Coombs, M. J. Comben, A. J. Crouch, J. A. Crowhurst, P. J. Davey, J. Day, H. C. Duffin, B. A. Duffin, F. W. Emerson, P. J. Ford, K. W. K. Farthing, R. F. Hamilton, A. D. Harland, R. G. Harlow, W. O. Hatto, R. H. Hewes, M. S. Hinton, M. J. Horner, G. V. Hunt, I. P. Husbands, D. L. James, K. T. Jones, R. R. Knight, M. D. Lampard, M. J. Lanham, P. J. Millin, P. A. D. Mould, N. J. Parratt, A. A. Parry, B. D. Peters, C. Prescott, R. M. Radford, V. D. Ruffle, B. E. Sherwood, F. J. G. Sheward, J. Shoebidge, R. A. Smith, M. E. H. Sturt, E. B. Thomas, A. A. Tooby, K. S. Trollop, J. J. Vanner, H. Walmsley, R. A. Watts, C. I. Williams, T. B. Wright, A. M. Aylwin and J. N. Jackson.

Examination Results.

Higher School Certificate (London University).—J. G. Fletcher (Physics, Chemistry, Pure Mathematics, Applied Mathematics), Exemption from Inter. Science Examination, awarded a Major Scholarship by Surrey County Council; J. W. Brine (Physics, Chemistry, Pure Mathematics).

General School Certificate (with Exemption from London Matriculation).—S. A. Adler (English, Latin, French, German); J. M. Cadier (French); T. Fletcher (Latin, Mathematics); S. O. Fry (Mathematics); G. H. Jantet (Latin, French, Mathematics, Chemistry); R. J. Wallis.

The following passed the examination.—P. B. Atkins, G. C. Bowmer (Chemistry), G. R. Frampton, J. W. Golding, H. J. Gudge, D. R. Haynes, H. J. Hayward (Mathematics and Physics), D. Hoyle, L. Hoyle, P. E. Larby, G. F. Morley, P. Nash, D. E. Oldham, A. Player, D. R. Skillin, S. G. Tilford (Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry), K. H. W. Tomlin, W. J. Walter and K. Watts. (Candidates reached "distinction" standard in subjects bracketed after their names).

Taking additional subjects, L. S. Phillips passed with credit in Chemistry and distinction in German.

The Chess Club.

A meeting of the Chess Club was held at the beginning of the term in order to get the Club functioning again after a period of inactivity during the summer. It was decided to elect a President, Vice-President, Secretary and two Committee Members. Mr. Knight was re-elected President and the following appointments were made: Vice-President, S. Adler; Secretary, K. Watts; Committee Members, G. Morley and G. Brehaut.

At the present time a chess ladder is in full swing, a player moving up or down as his ability warrants. We hope later in the term to get someone from outside the School to give lectures and perhaps a simultaneous display.

K. WATTS.

Spotters' Club.

This term the membership has been increased to thirty. New officers have been elected to replace those who have left. These are: Secretary, G. Tilford; Assistant Competitive Officer, J. M. Potter; and Attendance Officer, B. McCarthy. Three other members have been elected to sit with the Committee. These are J. W. Bunting, B. McCarthy and J. M. Knotts. An official Third Class Test has been held for certificates and seals, and the President's Cup Competitions are to be revived shortly. The Club is still in a very unsettled condition on account of the fact that we have no adult officers to supervise meetings; but interest seems to be increasing and we hope to make good progress throughout this School year.

J. M. POTTER.

The Scout Troop.

During the year September 1942/43 the Troop has made rapid progress in tests and badges. We now have one King's Scout, seventeen Second Class Scouts, fourteen Tenderfoots and seven recruits, making a total of thirty-nine boys. There are four vacancies at present, which will, we hope, soon be filled. Thirty-four proficiency badges have been gained since the Troop began. It will, no doubt, interest readers to know that there are now four King's Scouts in Farnham, all of whom have gained their badges during this year, an event unknown for many years in the history of Farnham's Scouting.

Our greatest difficulty has been to find adequate accommodation, but, after jumping from one place to another, Mr. Morgan has come to our rescue and kindly allows us to meet in the gymnasium. Attendance has been as good as can be expected, boys being kept away only by distance.

A few weeks ago the Eagle Patrol was formed, and is under the Patrol-leadership of R. L. Southon.

Our summer camp was held on a farm at Alton from August 3rd to 18th. Owing to the fact that most of us had not camped over a long period before, our time was largely taken up by camp work. Some boys, however, helped with the harvesting in their spare time. It has been decided that at our next camp we shall have "patrol cooking," "troop cooking" being the main cause of lack of time for Scout work.

We have taken part in a number of competitions with other Troops, among them a combined activity with the 3rd Farnham Troop, which took place from 9 p.m. to 12 midnight. We enjoyed creeping about the School Field in the black-out and eating a meal in the Scout Hut, lit by hurricane lamps. We arrived home at 1 a.m. quite ready for bed.

A number of boys took part in the Armistice Parade at the Parish Church on Sunday, November 7th, and our new Troop Flag was carried for the first time.

M. J. BALL (Troop Leader).

NOTES BY SCOUTMASTER.

We greatly regret to announce the resignation of Troop Leader M. J. Ball (King's Scout) at the end of this term. Ball has given the Troop very great service since he took over in November, 1942, and I am sure all concerned will join me in wishing him good scouting and every success in his new school. Peter Kent, formerly Patrol Leader of the Lion Patrol, has been appointed Troop Leader in Ball's place, and the vacancy made by this promotion has been filled by Peter Hartshorn.

As a result of a request, made to me by one of my Patrol Leaders some weeks ago, to go in for his marksman's proficiency badge, a Scouts' Rifle Club has been formed for Scouts in this district. Since the formation took place several competitions have been held. The S.M.R.C. and the N.R.A., to which we are affiliated, have provided the awards for these competitions.

Our thanks are due to Mr. Morgan for his kindness in allowing the Club the use of the Scool Rifle Range.

F. C. W. KNIGHT.

The Cadet Corps.

The appointments for this term are as follows:—

C.S.M.—J. W. Donaldson.

Sergeants.—J. M. Cadier, T. H. Kelly, P. Nash, G. C. Ricketts.

Corporals.—A. J. Barter, G. H. Jantet, K. C. Reeve.

Lance-Corporals.—S. A. Adler, G. A. Brehaut, D. W. Chitty, T. Fletcher, L. S. Phillips, R. C. Roberts, D. A. Smith, K. H. W. Tomlin, A. L. Westley.

The annual inspection was held last term, the inspecting officer being Colonel L. J. O'B. Daunt, our local sub-area commander. Colonel Daunt watched training being carried out under Cadet N.C.O.'s and his report was very favourable. The following remarks are quoted from it:—

Drill: Excellent.

Handling of squads by Cadet Instructors in drill: Exceptionally good.

Standard of weapon training: Very high.

Principles of section leading and field craft as understood by Cadets: Very good.

The report was borne out by the excellent results of the War Certificate "A" examination, held later on in July. Twenty Cadets entered for it; nineteen passed in Parts I (Individual) and II (Section Leading), and one Cadet passed Part I. The following passed Parts I and II: Sergeant D. R. Skillin, Corporal P. Nash, Lance-Corporals A. J. Barter, G. A. Brehaut, J. W. Brine, D. W. Chitty, L. S. Phillips, K. C. Reeve, G. C. Ricketts, K. H. W. Tomlin, M. E. West, Cadets S. A. Adler, T. Fletcher, H. J. Gudge, G. H. Jantet, J. McMullon, R. C. Roberts, D. A. Smith, A. L. Westley.

At the end of last term one of our N.C.O.'s, Sergeant Morgan, left the Cadet Corps to go on a short University course for the Royal Engineers. We wish him luck in his new career.

At a battalion camp, held in the grounds of Cranleigh School last August, our party consisted of twenty Cadets under the command of the Headmaster. Lack of space limits me to the observation that the week was very successful and enjoyable.

This term the Cadet Corps has been reduced to three platoons owing to the formation of a branch of the Sea Cadet Corps in the town. Nos. 1 and 2 Platoons consist of partially trained recruits with uniforms, who will be given an opportunity of taking the War Certificate "A" next July. No. 3 Platoon consists of untrained recruits without uniforms. An Advanced Training Section has been started for N.C.O.'s with War Certificate "A"; the object is to make their training more useful when they are called up. For this reason the greater part of their training is devoted to the various weapons of the modern army.

J. W. DONALDSON.

An Autumn Walk.

I remember one such walk which I enjoyed last autumn, when I spent a whole day in the countryside, enjoying the rustic beauties of hedgerow, thicket, heath and stream. I took my lunch and tea with me, and, leaving home after an early breakfast, stepped out through the fresh, dew-laden morning air. I passed first through a wood of pines, which reared their tall, dark, skeleton forms into the morning sky. Every now and again the thud of a falling cone, or the sharp crack of a dead branch, could be heard on the still silent air. Deep in the wood the mist was still heavy, and its chill blanket swirled in clammy folds about me. I hurried on over the soft carpet of pine needles till I reached the edge of the wood, and came out into the village, which was just beginning to bestir itself.

As I walked along the village street I could see swallows peering from under the eaves, while in the gardens below a few late hollyhocks still bloomed, and Virginia creeper, though rather past its former glory, arched colourfully over the doorways of some dwellings. I passed on by the quaint little church, and the picturesque old Tabard Inn, with its weatherbeaten sign, ancient stables and coaching house, and on to the broad heath beyond, where furze, fern and bracken, mingled with smouldering heather. Thin white paths, where the chalk bed had been exposed, swept to the summit of the surrounding hills.

I bent my steps toward the small wood on the top of a distant eminence. As I traversed the heath, I could hear the crickets chirping gaily on all sides, and ever and anon a startled hare would bound madly away, or a pheasant would rise at my very feet with a curious whirring sound and take to wing. Half-way up the slope grew a great rambling blackberry bramble, heavily laden with its luscious shiny black fruit, which I sampled before proceeding on my way. I crossed a trickle of water, which rippled musically over its stony bed to disappear in a maze of stunted bushes and thick undergrowth, and climbed up the steep miniature gorge of an erstwhile stream.

The covert of trees, which I had seen, turned out to be mostly of the graceful, smooth barked beech, whose glossy foliage was now tinted with autumnal shades. There were also sturdy oaks, lofty elms, lissom silver birches, and beautiful, richly laden chestnuts, as well as many others. The faint woodland path which I was following often disappeared altogether in the grass, to appear like a red rut amid the distant boles. The ground was strewn with prickly chestnut burrs, acorns and twigs, and fallen leaves had drifted under the bushes in a glorious profusion of reds, greens, yellows and browns. Everywhere there were thick clusters of ferns, whose soft green was reddening, and the bushes were all clothed in their "Fall" coats.

I could hear the curious whistle of the linnet and the cheerful chirrup of the chaffinch above me and, in the distance, the perpetual tap-tap of the brightly hued woodpecker. On a nearby tree I saw the golden-headed yellowhammer, and caught a glimpse of the red and white head of the goldfinch in the foliage above me, while a cloud of rooks hovered over the trees to the left. I emerged from the wood under a noble oak, on a mossy bank by a stream. The crystal waters fell over a series of rills, and scintillated in the midday sun. During the course of many seasons it had eroded the earth from the base of the tree, leaving a tangle of roots in which was caught a mass of dead leaves, round which the waters fiercely eddied.

I decided to have my lunch here; and it was a choice spot, for there was a magnificent panorama unfolded before my eyes. In the distance, a line of rolling blue hills broke the skyline to the left, while a great tract of parkland, divided by the silver ribbon of a river, and studded with clumps of trees and red-roofed farmsteads, stretched to the right. Below me lay the river, twisting and turning sinuously into the distance, to empty itself into a small lake. The long sweep of the hill on which I lay blazed with heather, its flames licking to the very brink of the placid stream below. On the other side of the river, however, there were lush pastures, with only a few willows drooping over the bank, in whose shade were several cows, half immersed in the cooling water, lazily flicking their tails to rid themselves of the innumerable pestering flies.

I followed the little stream in its cascades to the river and stood for some time on the rustic bridge, which spanned it, looking down into the still waters, where carp, trout and shoals of "tiddlers" flitted gaily about. A dragonfly, with its gossamer wings and body of metallic hue, whirled by in careless abandon, while a trout leapt from the water to snap up one of the ever-hovering flies and disappear with almost the same movement, leaving an ever widening circle of ripples on the surface.

I passed on downstream to the lakelet, with its bordering willow thickets, sedges and rushes, in whose fastnesses the beautifully marked mallard drake and his rather drab mate, the teal and snipe, moorhen and diver, nested securely. On the shimmering surface the stately swan glided his serene, regal way, leaving hardly a ripple in his wake. Near a clump of alders a perky little moorhen was bobbing up and down, preening her feathers. As I threw myself down on the greensward, brer fox, with his beady eyes and bushy tail, shot from under a nearby fallen tree trunk into a nearby thicket. A brilliant blue-green kingfisher haunted the shady banks on the other shore, occasionally diving into the water, to come up triumphant with a small fish in his bill.

I rested here for a while, and then proceeded on my way. I soon struck a footpath, which led me, over a stile, into a country lane. As I walked along I noticed a hedgehog curled up asleep under a thick hawthorn hedge, along which a tiny wren was aimlessly fluttering, while in the dry ditch there was a profusion of nettles and thistles. At the edge of the path there were clover, plantain and tassel in abundance, and in a neighbouring field a large patch of colt's-foot. Further on I came to a mellow brick farmhouse, opposite which was a golden grain-field, then being reaped. In the distance I could hear the purring of the tractor, and the merry shouts of the children as they helped to "stook" the sheaves. As I was passing, a small rabbit scuttled out of the corn across my path and started a covey of partridge in the next field. Nearby there was an orchard, from which the warble of the blackbird was wafted on the late afternoon breeze.

I ate my tea here, and was glad to accept the offer of a glass of milk from the farmer's wife. After tea I hurried on, for I still had some way to go. As the dusk fell, all the trees and shrubs seemed to assume mystic shapes: shy old Brock the Badger ambled lazily into the brush, and the night air was laden with the sweet smells and strange rustlings of Nature. Above me swept the brown owl, on his nightly prow, hooting dismally, while myriads of gnats hovered jerkily overhead.

I reached home, and, turning at the gate, looked out on that same pinewood through which I had passed that morning and which seemed even more mysterious now than it had then. I pondered on all the natural beauties which I had been privileged to see that day—the open heath, the rustling wood, the meandering river, the placid lake and the quiet country lanes—and I reflected how wonderful they were. Then, turning again, I went in—to bed.

Cricket, 1943.

The past season was one of the most successful we have had for some years. The First Eleven lost only one game and the Second two, one of which was lost by a single when we had to field a very weak team owing to outside calls upon our players.

Hopkins led the side well and took upon his shoulders a captain's full responsibilities, with the result that everything went smoothly. His bowling was excellent and his batting was much more successful. Larby, apart from one superb innings, had no luck whatsoever. Kirk would have done much better with more discrimination, but even so he played some good innings. Spectacular hitting is very exhilarating while it lasts, but too often it is of brief duration. Milburn shaped well and played one outstanding innings. His bowling lacked variety—and spin. Chitty, in the side for his batting, developed into one of our best bowlers, with swingers that had many batsmen guessing. Nash stubbornly defended and, with more experience and practice, especially with off-balls, will do very well. His bowling was, too often, an open invitation to the batsman to hit. Reeve, Brehaut, Sturt and West all did quite well, and Sheehan was a perky wicket-keeper. The fielding of some, particularly of Nash and Larby, was brilliant, and all were keen. Good fielding is an indirect way of winning many matches.

The Second Eleven, composed chiefly of young boys, had a very good season. The batting was somewhat agricultural but promising; the bowling was good. The most pleasing feature was the keenness of all players. With practice, and determination to carry out instructions as far as possible, many of these boys should become good cricketers and worthy members of our First Eleven.

No Junior matches were played, but at two net practices nobody was missing, and all were so keen that it was difficult to drag them away after two hours' strenuous practice.

O.F.A. LEAVING SCHOLARSHIP TRUST.

The Fund quietly and steadily grows and has reached well over £1,100 at the end of our financial year in November. We have made no more grants since the first was completed this summer, as we have felt that the need will be greatest when our younger members return from the war, and that it is therefore better for us to conserve our funds against that time. May it be not long delayed!

In the meantime, and without any other appeal than the obvious worthiness of the cause, donations come in and are gratefully acknowledged. As we gather our strength, this money goes straight to the war effort, while it builds up the means of increasing benefit in the future.

G.M.A.

Roll of Honour.

E. G. Woodhatch (1929-1937), Sub-Lieutenant, R.N., killed in action, November, 1943. Edgar Woodhatch was one of the salt of the earth—gentle and modest, yet promising fine things. A first-rate youngster who has paid the full price of this war.

PRISONERS OF WAR.

F. M. Loughlin (1931-1935), Private, R.A.S.C., previously reported missing in Malaya, February, 1942. Reported prisoner of war July, 1943.

R. E. A. Stanley (1928-1933), Sergeant, Royal Corps of Signals, prisoner of war in Italy. Transferred to Germany.

ESCAPED PRISONERS OF WAR.

H. de B. Brock (1929-1938), Private, Middlesex Yeomanry, escaped from Sulmona Camp, Italy, October, 1943. Now in England.

G. C. Blake (1928-1933), Special Boat Section, escaped from Italy to Switzerland, October, 1943.

NEWS OF OLD BOYS.

Owing to a compulsory cut in our supply of paper, this feature had to be reduced to very bare bones indeed. It is the more unfortunate that it should happen when a number of choice stories have been received, but we must bow to circumstances. One day the tales shall be told in full.

JUNE.

W. F. P. Cate (1939-1942) reported as joining R.A.F. and going to I.T.W.

P. S. Arnsby (1938-1942), L.A.C. in R.A.F., has finished I.T.W. and is reporting for Grading School.

D. C. Taylor (1936-1941) is in Royal Corps of Signals on special work.

J. E. Hamilton-Jones (1932-1941) called at School whilst on leave. He is A.B. in R.N.V.R. doing special work in R.D.F. and had had interesting time on Aircraft Carrier in not too distant seas.

We heard that H. F. Compton (1925-1930) was a Captain in the R.A.O.C.

D. A. Little (1932-1937), Lieutenant, R.E., wrote an interesting letter on life in India.

JULY.

J. M. Aylwin (1930-1939) called at School whilst on leave, a Second Lieutenant in R.E.

H. J. Kent (1940-1941) is learning farming somewhere in the South of England. He is a student on the same farm as J. D. Heelis.

D. C. Horry (1925-1930) is now back in England. He has War Substantive rank as Staff-Sergeant in The Queen's Royal Regiment.

T. B. Lock (1934-1940) called at School as A.C.1 in R.A.F. He was awaiting posting to E.F.T.S. after Grading School.

C. Johnson (1935-1940), Sergeant (Pilot) in R.A.F., was awaiting posting to "Ops." He had been training in Canada for some months.

D. W. Nicolson (1940-1942), having finished his course at University College, London, has joined R.A.F.

W. A. Chapman (1933-1938) sent an interesting letter from India, where he is A.C.1 in R.A.F.

R. M. Craigen (1923-1930) is Lieutenant in R.A.O.C. in India, awaiting his third "pip." "You may note me as an O.F. who is completely happy with his lot!"

AUGUST.

P. F. Copping (1933-1939) is Bombardier in R.A. (Field) and specialises in Signals.

R. W. Judd (1934-1937), after training in Canada and U.S.A., returned to England to become Aircraft Recognition Instructor in R.A.F., with, at this time, the rank of Corporal. He met P. J. Rose in U.S.A., a Sergeant (Pilot) in R.A.F.

K. G. D. Crowhurst (1924-1931) played at Lords for London Counties against a Lords' eleven, scoring 31 runs and taking two wickets for 32.

G. W. S. Morris (1928-1930) sends a very interesting account of his work and cycling trips in the North of England as a local government official; but for lack of space it would have made a good magazine article!

R. A. Donald (1930-1935) was married, somewhere in the Midlands. [Congratulations and good wishes!]

S. H. Mason (1931-1936) is now a Second Lieutenant in the Royal Indian Army Service Corps.

S. E. Jarvis (1918-1922) continues to devote himself to Insurance and the N.F.S. He reports his brother "C.J.E." as still in Colombo with the Royal Exchange Assurance Company. Denys Jarvis is Lieutenant in R.A.S.C., somewhere in North Africa.

A. F. Enticknap (1930-1936) wrote a full account of his experiences as a member of R.A.S.C. (Workshops) from England to North Africa via India! Again, lack of space cuts out a real adventure story.

R. R. Kirk (1932-1937) now has a commission in R.A. (A.A.).

H. Smither (1922-1933), Captain in Royal Corps of Signals, is still in M.E.F.

We regret to have to record the death of L. R. Thorpe (1907-1910), which took place suddenly on August 21st, 1943. At the outbreak of hostilities he was forced to return from Burma. He actually left Lashio forty-eight hours before the entry of the Japanese.

SEPTEMBER.

H. J. Chitty (1926-1933) is Lieutenant in R.A. (A.A.) somewhere in the North.

R. C. Lusty (1923-1930) is Staff-Sergeant with C.R.E. in East Africa Command.

S. G. H. Cook (1918-1920) is Captain in R.E.M.E., and J. L. Cook (1918-1921) a C.P.O. in R.N.

D. Bentall (1926-1931), an A.C. in R.A.F., wrote from Paiforce that his brother Keith was somewhere in Middle East.

D. E. P. Raggett (1934-1936), Corporal in R.A.F., is reported as with the C.M.F. in Sicily.

L. F. Malone (1925-1930) sent an interesting account of his experiences. He is Corporal in Royal Corps of Signals, with C.M.F. He saw service in North Africa, was in Malta and now is in Sicily.

G. F. Till (1926-1928) wrote from Bombay, where he is a Captain in R.A.; a letter full of interesting items of news.

P. French (1934-1940), a Lance-Corporal in "The Queen's," wrote from hospital in B.N.A.F.—his second spell—where he was suffering from jaundice! He was expecting to be fit in a few weeks.

D. C. Frost (1931-1939) sent news from M.E.F. He is Lance-Corporal in Hussars (Mechanised), having driven armoured cars for some three years!

K. T. Mitchell (1916-1926), as Captain (Temporary Major), R.A.S.C., has been made M.B.E. for gallant and distinguished service in North Africa.

K. C. W. James (1936-1940) is Lieutenant in R.E. in Ceylon.

OCTOBER

D. J. Mills (1935-1942) reported for a short University Course (in North) with a view to becoming an Executive Officer in R.N.

J. M. Aylwin (1930-1939), now Lieutenant, reported his recovery after accident on training.

D. L. P. Hopkins (1935-1943) reported for training in Fleet Air Arm.

P. French reported fit again and as having rejoined his unit in C.M.F. (Hampshire Regiment).

L. E. Lord (1921-1925) has a commission in R.A. (A.A.) in East Africa.

A. St. C. Garrood (1931-1939) is a Lieutenant in Recce Regiment.

E. G. Glynn (1924-1930), Captain now in R.A.S.C., is in Italy.

Flight-Sergeant K. Talbot (1930-1936) was seen in Farnham. He had just returned from North Africa after recovering from injuries received in baling out from his burning plane.

D. B. Boulter (1934-1942) was eleventh in the "passing out" list of the Special Entry Naval Cadets. He is now a Midshipman in H.M.S. "Enterprise."

NOVEMBER.

G. A. Bacon (1926-1937) now a Flight-Sergeant in R.A.F., has moved from North Africa to further East for Instructional Duties whilst on "rest" after months of operational flying.

D. J. Reeve (1932-1938) is now a Captain—out in India.

J. C. Griffin (1917-1919) has now returned to England from the Middle East.

T. B. Lock (1934-1940) now reports himself as training as Navigator Bomber.

J. E. Hamilton-Jones (1932-1941) re-appeared at School with his "killick." His promotion to Leading-Seaman in ten months is believed to be a record.

H. de B. Brock (1929-1938) is back in England after escaping from P.O.W. Camp, Sulmona, Italy. A great story which cannot be told here.

D. W. Nicolson (1940-1942) has been graded and now awaits his E.F.T.S.
