

THE FARNHAMIAN.

Vol. XXIV., No. 1.

March, 1937.

Editorial Notes.

It is with profound regret that we have to record the death of Mr. R. W. Mason, a boy at the School from 1867 to 1872 and a Governor of the School from 1910 to the present year. Since 1922 he had been Chairman of the Governors. A fuller appreciation of Mr. Mason's life of service, especially in relation to the School and the O.F.A., is included in this issue; so that, if it were needed, we are all reminded that we have indeed lost an old friend and a kindly benefactor.

News has just been received of the death in 1934 of the Rev. H. Durrant who was a master at the School from 1917 to 1920. He became Vicar of St. Alban's, Bournemouth, which he left in 1931 for the living of Owslebury, Winchester. Many Old Farnhamians will read with regret of the passing of a very genial teacher of geography and a keen cricketer.

Last year a prize was offered by the Bishop of Guildford for an essay on "Local Government." The competition duly took place last term, the prize for the best essay being awarded to H. de B. Brock. We must again thank Dr. Macmillan for his stimulating generosity and hope that there will be a good entry and keen competition this year when the prize will be offered again.

* * • • • *

Our very best thanks are due to Dr. Shirley Jones who has presented a silver cup in memory of the happy years spent at the School by his two sons. It has been decided that the House judged to have done best in work during the year shall hold the cup for the following twelve months, but points gained for this purpose will not be included in the Cock House table.

The new Appointments are :—Football: R. R. Kirk (Captain), P. A. Little (Vice-Captain); Boxing: D. J. Reeve (Captain), F. P. Lambert (Vice-Captain); Assistant Games Secretary; F. P. Lambert. J. O. Levison has been elected to the Games Committee.

Speech Day.

The Memorial Hall was once more filled for Prize-giving last Term, when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rowntree were our principal guests. In opening the proceedings Mr. Mason referred to the move which the County Council has made towards the provision of new buildings, and hoped that it would not be long before they were erected. May we not hope that in the near future our public functions will be held under our own roof?

The Headmaster's report, which followed, was as usual very comprehensive, touching on all aspects of School life, referring to the events of the past year, thanking benefactors and reviewing the activities of the O.F.A. Surely those who listened, if they had not realised it before, must have been struck by the quantity and the quality of the happenings that go to make a full School history. Before she gave away the prizes, Mrs. Rowntree was presented with a bouquet of crimson carnations by K. Watts.

Here is the list of prize-winners:—

FORM PRIZES.

- Form I.—1, D. J. Mills; 2, B. D. Heelis; industry, I. G. Sherfield.
 Lower II.—1, D. R. Goddard; 2, J. A. Judge; industry, I. Watts.
 Upper II.—1, N. R. Dent; 2, W. G. Sims; industry, T. J. Booth and P. Digby.
 Lower III.—1, G. S. Webb; 2, F. E. Churton; industry F. LeClercq.
 Upper III.—1, W. G. Little; 2, E. A. Pierce; industry, F. H. Bridge.
 Lower IV.—1, D. H. Harris; 2, T. Tidd; industry, R. A. Edmondson.
 Upper IV.—1, P. F. Copping; 2, F. W. Withers; industry A. E. Crawte.

Lambert and R. E. Lintern; physics, J. T. Ballett, F. P. Lambert, P. Lillywhite, S. Wells and J. A. D. Wood; general prowess, F. R. Barclay, D. J. Reeves and A. T. Taylor; history, C. E. Taylor; French, L. M. Roberts.

Higher School Examination Prizes.—French, T. R. Alston; chemistry, W. M. Robertson ("Dr. George Brown" prize); mathematics, A. J. Beard.

"C. R. Gibson" Prize.—W. M. Robertson.

The following is reprinted by the kindness of the "Farnham Herald":—

In his address, Mr. Rowntree commented upon the fact that he was speaking to the boys of a School which was founded in the auspicious days of the great Queen Elizabeth. When he accepted the invitation to talk to them some weeks ago, he thought he would like to say a few words about the three human factors that contributed to the education of a boy, and he was confirmed in that judgment a fortnight ago when he read in the "Farnham Herald" a very interesting account of a Parents' Evening and an address by the Headmaster, in which he spoke of the need for co-operation if they were to get the best, physical and spiritual, out of education. He had noticed in the Headmaster's report that day a great many things that were of interest, and one especially—the eminently good work that the Old Boys' Association was doing for the School. In connection with his old school they had a strong Old Boys' Association, and he found it difficult to over-estimate the benefit that came to the School, materially and spiritually, from that Association.

Mr. Rowntree proceeded to say a word about the three sets of people then occupying that hall—parents, School staff and the boys—and recalled about 30 years ago a distinguished headmaster of a public school who began on speech day telling parents, staff and boys that his experience was that boys were always reasonable, that the masters sometimes were, but that the parents never were. (Laughter). That was not his experience, however. He must have been in touch with nearly 2,000 parents, and his judgment was that in the long run boys, masters and parents were reasonable. He thought he could count only four or five parents who seemed to be unwilling to co-operate in the work of the School. There were, of course, some curiosities in each of the three sets of partners. He remembered a father who came to him one day to talk about his boy. That parent had little insight and no sense of humour; his boy was overgrown and a year or so above the average age of his form. The parent asked him (Mr. Rowntree) penetrating questions. Was the boy doing his best? Yes, he was. Was he lazy? No, he was not. Was he a good worker? Yes, he was. "But," said the father, "you call him a dull boy." "Yes, he is." "Well, I can't understand it," was the parent's answer; "his mother is a clever woman."

When he retired from his headmastership, continued Mr. Rowntree, one of his friends, a colleague of two or three years previously, wrote that he thought he (the speaker) had been served by a loyal and devoted staff, and he agreed with every word he had written. Now about boys. It had given him, and he was sure it had given Mrs. Rowntree, very great pleasure again to face a large number of boys in the way they used to do in the old days. There was nothing in the world like the boy. His friends used often to say to him: "I don't envy you your life. It must be the most monotonous thing in the world dealing with boys day after day and year after year." Monotonous was the last word one should use about boys. He remembered one boy who, almost accidentally, caught a mole and who spent weeks afterwards in trying to catch sufficient moles to make a moleskin waistcoat. He thought of two others who went out and bought gunpowder and whose faces could hardly be seen for the next ten weeks. Then he remembered an epidemic of measles, when some of the dormitories had to be turned into a hospital ward. The sister went out of the room, and came back to find one of the boys with another, who had a temperature of 105, pillow-fighting in the middle of the room.

He continued to admire the inexhaustible resourcefulness of the boy's nature, Mr. Rowntree told those assembled. The Chairman had said that not every boy could win a prize, and he agreed that there must be some dull boys. But he counselled them not to be discouraged on account of dullness. If they were working their best, some day they might get the reward given some years ago to a dull boy in one of the public schools by a master, who reported to the headmaster: "Dull in study; will make a good parent." All three co-partners—parents, staff and boys—he had no doubt were working together for the same end. In the early days, education in the home of affection, sympathy and alertness provided the nurture that was needed in those years. Then came school boys with school work, games and physical training, art and music, the play of mind upon mind, not only the master's mind upon the boy's, but, more important perhaps, the boy's mind upon the master's, maybe in attendance at meetings of the scientific society, the dramatic society, or the photographic society, or what was done in the holidays. One could not over-estimate what a boy or a man did in what was called his own time. It had been well said that the test of a man's education was to be found in what he chose to do when he was not obliged to do anything. As boys grew older, up to the age of 15 or 16, and began to reflect on their own development, he thought they would see that development in rich diversity came from industry and obedience, graciousness and fidelity to duty, unselfishness and thoroughness. Hard work was not enough. School had the priceless privilege of giving an opportunity to acquire great and good ideals. To the boys in that ancient School he would say: "Cherish your ideals. Keep the windows of your mind wide open to the sun, and join your aspirations with the prayer of our great blind poet of the 17th century: 'Celestial light shine inward in the mind with all the power it radiates.'"

After the votes of thanks, the stage was cleared to enable T. R. Alston to give a French recitation, "Molière: L'avare"—Harpagon's hysterical monologue. This was followed by the recitation of the quarrel scene between Brutus and Cassius in "Julius Caesar," C. H. Wadmore taking the part of Brutus and J. J. Lowry that of Cassius. The junior choir sang the unison song, "Who is Sylvia?" (Schubert) and the carol, "Good Christian men, rejoice" (traditional), these numbers being followed by a solo, "Partant pour la Syrie," by T. R. Harrington, and the unison song, "England" (Parry). The entertainment closed with the School Song and the National Anthem.

Richard W. Mason.

There are, no doubt, many angles from which an appreciation could be made of Richard W. Mason, but perhaps it could be best done by considering one aspect of his life—his association with Farnham Grammar School. After all, a man can very often be judged best from the voluntary work that he does.

After being a pupil of the School from 1867 to 1872, it was a source of great satisfaction to him when he was appointed a Governor in October, 1910, and of even greater satisfaction when in February, 1922, he was made Chairman of the Governors, an office which he held until he died. He was always proud to think that he held the post which his father before him had filled; for one of the dominating motives of his life was his devotion to all that his father stood for. Moreover, he had a high regard in his memory for his old school-master, Mr. Charles Stroud, "a dominee," as he once called him, "of the old type." Thus, apart from his strong sense of duty and his desire to be of service, it was to be expected that he would bring to his work for the School real enthusiasm and vigour. When to these qualities is added a lively sympathy for all young people, it can be understood how well suited he was for the office which he held so long.

Those who saw him year after year at the Old Farnhamians' dinner, sitting with tolerant kindness in a gathering whose average age must have been more than 40 years less than his own, could not fail to be impressed by this sympathy of his. From the very inception of the O.F.A. he gave it his unfailing support, and many an evening he sacrificed to committee work in the days when the foundations were being laid. Those, too, who heard him year after year at Speech Day could not fail to be impressed by his sincerity and his warmth of heart. His generosity never flagged. Apart from his regular and seasonal contributions to every good cause of the School, it was he who met the greater part of the cost of the first motor-mower the School had, and only last year he gave £50 towards the proposed pavilion for the new memorial playing field. Indeed, during those arduous years, when the money was being slowly accumulated for the new field, his enthusiasm never wavered, and his support never failed.

As Chairman of the Governors his most outstanding characteristics were sympathy, patience, kindness and loyalty. During the last year, his chief concern was to accelerate the project for the improvement of the buildings of the School; and nothing would have given him greater joy than to see this project realised. But it was not to be; and, with that old-fashioned piety of his, he would have been the first to say: "God's will be done."

Our English institutions have been built on a firm and lasting basis of unrewarded service—or, rather, of service which is its own reward. Richard Mason was a shining example of such service; and no better epitaph perhaps could be given to him than this: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

Debating Society.

On November 20th Mr. Morgan gave a talk on "Europe To-day." He said that all the trouble in Europe was caused by intense nationalism resulting in trade barriers causing starvation and poverty. Improvement and reconstruction of the League to include all nations was essential to world peace. The probability of a war in the near future depended on the moral leadership of the big powers.

A discussion followed, and a vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Brock.

An impromptu debate, the final one of the Autumn Term, was held on December 4th. Mr. Sternberg was successfully opposed by Mr. A. Taylor when he proposed "That it was better to be fat than thin." Mr. Nolan proposed "That Farnham was an ideal town," but the house agreed with Mr. Spiegel that it was not. Mr. Alston, opposed by Mr. Brock, was also unsuccessful on proposing "That a 'Duds' Eleven was desirable in the School."

Science Society.

Owing to School shooting matches and the Debating Society, only one lecture could be arranged at the preliminary meeting held on October 15th.

Mr. Raggett gave his lecture on November 13th on "Hypnotism." After defining hypnotism, he dealt with its effect on the muscles of the body, the methods of producing hypnosis and some remarkable effects produced by it on subjects. This talk was very interesting and the attendance was quite good.

F.P.L.

Photographic Society.

At a meeting early in the Term the Society was strengthened and re-organised, one of the principal reforms being the appointment of a standing Dark Room Committee to be responsible for the maintenance of the old armoury in a decent condition. The appearance of the room has been much improved, but, like the remainder of the "huts," it is disintegrating and letting the weather through many cracks.

We are glad to report an increased membership this Term.

Mr. Lock has given two talks—one on "The General Principles of Photography" and the other on "Gas-light Printing."

Pastoral.

The birds are nesting in the trees,
Winging and singing as they please;
In the fields the flowers are gay,
Praising God in their own sweet way.

In the meadows sheep are sleeping,
Whilst around them lambs are leaping;
In adjoining fields the horses
Munch their grass with many pauses.

O'er the leas the children scamper,
Nothing may their movements hamper;
Would that men, like children, gaily,
Might pursue their business daily.

A Complete Treatise on Music.

In these very select days, when everybody knows what should be done about everything, and nobody does it, the authors of this treatise feel that there is still room for a carefully graded course on music. The object of this course is not to instruct the reader upon the various aspects of this wonderful art about which he knows nothing. This would entail a course stretching over a period of at least 90 years, and the payments would therefore be so gradual and infinitesimal that the authors (who have both reached a great age) would never reap their just reward for their tremendous labours. No, the real purpose of these kindly old gentlemen is generally to confuse him concerning the few whys and wherefores about which he thought he knew quite a lot.

The extremely high aim and purpose of this course of instruction having been explained, and the writers being quite unable to restrain their youthful enthusiasm for their subject, readers of this Magazine are now invited to plunge into the pool of knowledge which lies before them and to learn how and why music came into being, and how (and we may certainly ask why) it has ever reached such a stage as is suggested either by a concert of contemporary European music, or by a rendering of a "hotted-up" version of one of the "classics" by a doubtful collection of gentlemen under the nomenclature of "Bangem Clashem and his Billing and Cooing Boys."

Before we can examine the origins of the art, we have to decide quite definitely what the public means when it talks about music. (The public, by the way, is the lady with the large hat who is sitting right in front of you in the cinema. It may also be found walking on pavements, thus inconveniencing motorists who wish to take a short cut. It is then known as the "Man in the street. R.I.P."). As the only legal way of making any money these days is to find out what the public wants, double it, treble it and serve it with an American flavour, the authors thought they ought to be on the safe side, and forthwith sent their staff of secretaries out to find what the public really means when it talks about music. (In case the reader should occasionally lose sight of the main subject of the treatise, we would remind him that it is printed on the title page in no fewer than 70 different languages, including English and Farnhish).

The first person interviewed was a Mrs. Lather, proprietress of the Lucky Laundry, Lostshirt, Lincs (left-in). It was difficult for our secretary to take notes owing to the constant washing motion of the steamy atmosphere. No sooner was a pencil mark made on the cuff than it was steamed out again. As far as he could remember, Mrs. Lather preferred Handel's "Water Music," as the clothes washed much easier when this was played on the wireless. For dress shirts, an easy first was "When the Guards are on Parade," as the shirts immediately stiffened to attention and were afterwards completely unbendable and unbreakable.

In the meantime, our most attractive lady secretary had succeeded in penetrating the fastnesses of one of the new Training Colleges for Policemen. Threading her way through the lofty rooms, adorned with gorgeous tapestries cunningly representing the ties of our most famous public schools, she was at last ushered into the study of the Chief Instructor of Policemen. She then enquired of him as to the views of the Police Force concerning music, and whether the men were taught to play instruments, so that they might while away their long hours of duty. She was informed that, while the Force as a whole preferred a really good novel as being easier of transport than a bulky instrument, certain members of the Force were brilliant performers on the "Policeman's Whistle," their favourite piece being a "Friend in Kneed" or "Where's Cook?" by Onlea Copperstill.

The authors themselves had meanwhile been pursuing their own course of investigation, which consisted of secreting themselves under the seats of certain railway carriages, and of imitating the noise of the starting of an electric train. The occupants of the carriage thereupon beamed with an unrestrained delight and, having imagined themselves at their destination several hours earlier than they had anticipated, were easily induced to open their hearts to the wily authors. Unfortunately, however, the authors forgot to retire underneath the seat in time for the next station. The sounds of an electric train being absent, the passengers realised that their hopes were nothing but a snare and a delusion, and their chagrin knew no bounds. The authors are still in hospital, with the origin of music as yet unknown and undiscovered (in spite of their heroic efforts), and the matter remaining a mystery until the next issue of the treatise.

In conclusion, should any readers of this Magazine suffer from pressing problems (non-geometrical and algebraical), heart burnings, floating kidneys (but not floating loans), will they kindly write to Professors Piano and Forte, c/o The Home for Lost Causes, Whitehall, London. (No answer need be expected).

Gleanings.

We hear that at gatherings of the Photographic Society in the dark room, gum boots and overcoats are de rigueur.

* * * *

Should a cold develop from the practice of the art, the appropriate remedy would of course be emulsion.

* * * *

In the interests of public order we are asked not to publish the name of the only non-member of Narkover in the School. When questioned as to his reason for not joining, he replied that he considered the idea to be childish.

* * * *

We hear that a certain member of Lower III. has turned from the jazz racket to an old favourite: "Two lovely black eyes."

* * * *

In reply to an enquiry, we wish to explain that certain sounds heard issuing from Room A were caused by the Sixth Form studying Dynamics. The experiment in question was concerned with the behaviour of an elastic sphere impinging on a smooth, horizontal surface.

* * * *

An enquiry by football "fan" in Upper III. can be answered in the negative. There is no rule in Association Football governing the width of the goalkeeper.

* * * *

There is a suggestion that the First Eleven should be known as "Kirk's Lambs."

Something About India.

The average native of the plains of India is a small, slight man, believing like most of the peoples of the East that fate rules all and that there is no need to hurry. He lives by tilling the small farm which has, in all probability, been tilled by his ancestors for generations. The inventions of the West have added nothing to the methods of his cultivation. He still uses the wooden plough, shod with iron worked at the local smithy, and the wooden spades and rakes which his father used before him. His fields are not manured, for the simple reason that in the East animal droppings are dried and then used as fuel, owing to the scarcity of timber.

He does, however, irrigate his fields by the water drawn from river or from wells by means of the slow, plodding water buffalo, which is perhaps the only animal he owns. There is no corner of his field which is not reached by his tiny irrigation canals. This irrigation, developed of necessity by his ancestors in remote ages, enables the Indian to garner two crops a year from his fields. Although there are two crops in the year, the yield is no larger than that of an English field. This is due to the fact that the Indian has taken two crops from his soil for generations, and therefore the ground is not so productive as the average English field.

The Indian lives in a small, one-roomed hut made of mud baked hard in the sun and roofed crudely with rough timber and straw. This house is grouped with several others in a small community ruled over by a small party of elders. The furniture of this hut is a small "charpey," or bed, made of wood and string, a few brass cooking utensils and a small open fire.

His diet consists of coarse "chappaties," or bread, made from a coarse type of flour mixed with water and baked over the fire, lentils, chillies and a few vegetables cultivated in his field, curries, and very occasionally a little meat. The reason why so little meat is eaten is because the religion of many forbids the killing of an animal. This is due to the fact that the native believes in the "transmigration of the soul," that after death the soul returns in another form, that form depending on a man's actions in his former life.

The village committee rules not by any written code, but by custom and tradition which have been handed down from father to son from time immemorial. Just how much custom controls the life of an Indian is shown in the fact that the "Indian Penal Code" states that in all cases tried before a civil court, custom, if proved, shall over-rule the written code. The obedience to custom is so engrained in the native that he never under any circumstances questions the authority of elders, but submits to them with absolute readiness. The elders, besides enforcing the local village law, also in company with the local priest, run the village temple and decide on local religious matters. This is a very important function, since almost every village has some small religious belief of its own.

Caste plays a very important part in the life of the native. What is caste? It is the division of the people into social classes, devised from ancient days, and only able to exist owing to the Indians' lack of individuality. The caste will not smoke, eat, drink or marry with members of another caste. It also prescribes special forms of dress for its members, and any member breaking the laws of his caste becomes a parash, so that no-one will associate with him. This matter of caste is a great hindrance to the development of self-government and other matters. The Brahmins are by far the most unrestricted in this matter of caste and therefore take much more part in the general life of India.

Football.

AUTUMN TERM.

Captain: W. M. Robertson. Vice-Captain: R. R. Kirk.

The season opened with three friendly matches, in the first of which we surprisingly defeated Fareham by 15 goals to two. A weakened team went to Camberley for the next match, but we managed to win again, this time 8—4. The third success was at the expense of Witley; after being two goals down in ten minutes, we rallied splendidly and ran out winners by nine goals to three.

The next game was at home against Guildford in Surrey S.S. Cup. The day was bright, but it was spoilt by a very strong wind blowing up the pitch, which caused our forwards a lot of trouble. We made a great mistake in not opening up the game, and when half-time arrived we were a goal down. After resuming, we still persisted in attacking their goal from the centre only, and although we were now playing against the wind we showed improvement. Both sides scored twice in the second half, and so we lost our first Cup match.

A determined team made the journey to Woking the following week, where they were rewarded by a good victory of eight goals to two. It was due mainly to the changed tactics of the forwards; both wingers were used to the full extent and nearly every goal originated from one or other of the wings. After this cheering improvement we had the misfortune to lose our captain, who had been doing very good work at centre-half. Many changes were necessary, and naturally we did not settle down immediately, but we managed to defeat Camberley by the narrow margin of six goals to five. It was evident, however, that we should have to play better if we were to be successful.

At Guildford, in spite of our keenness, we were defeated by a superior side. Our forwards could make no progress against our opponents' exceptionally good defence. Our goalkeeper made many clever saves and the backs and halves tackled with great gusto, but we had a very fast and clever forward line opposed to us and did well to concede only five goals. Our spirits were not crushed, and the following week we set about Woking in workmanlike fashion, outplaying them by really good football and justly earning our victory.

To complete our programme, we had a game with Midhurst and the Old Boys' match on the last Saturday of Term. At Midhurst, on a muddy pitch, we were unlucky to lose by the odd goal in nine. The game with the Old Boys was as enjoyable as any we played, in spite of some rain. The O.F.A. turned out the strongest team they could get and won by four goals to two. We opened the scoring and at one period held them at two all, but our defence weakened in the last quarter of an hour and conceded two goals.

In conclusion, the Term's football was most enjoyable to all who took part in it. Every member of the team did his best under all sorts of circumstances, placing the side first.

Boxing.

There were 102 entries in the annual competition held last Term. Classes 1 to 6 went by weight, but in Classes 7 to 12 age was also taken into consideration. One round of two minutes was fought in the first and second series of Classes 1 to 7, but in Classes 8 to 12 the round lasted only 1½ minutes. In all semi-finals and finals there were two rounds of 1½ minutes each. We have to thank Mr. F. L. Swain for acting as referee in the first series and the Rev. J. Penry Davey for performing the same duty in the semi-finals and finals.

For the Inter-House Competition, half-a-point was gained for each entry, one point for a win in the first series, two points for a win in the semi-final, and three points for a win in the final. Positions were: 1, Harding, 58½ points; 2, School, 48½; 3, Morley, 34½; 4, Massingberd, 29; 5, Childe, 22½.

Each class winner received a medal, and, in addition, best loser medals were awarded to F. P. Lambert and K. R. Kirk. Results:—

CLASS 1 (OVER 10ST. 7LBS.).

First Series.—D. J. Reeve (Morley) beat R. R. Kirk (School).

Semi-finals.—Reeve beat E. G. Woodhatch (School). Woodhatch's superior height and longer reach seemed to give him an advantage at the start, but Reeve was the more experienced of the two and, in the second round in particular, scored heavily both to the face and body.

A. St. Garrood (School) beat T. R. Alston (Mass.). These two were fairly evenly matched in size. In the second period they were over-cautious and there were very few exchanges, the referee's comment being: "Not very good."

Final.—Reeve w.o. Garrood (scratched).

CLASS 2 (10ST. 7LBS. AND UNDER).

Semi-finals.—B. G. Louch (Harding) beat D. R. Coxall (School). Both these combatants fought cautiously throughout. Louch landed a hard punch to the side of Coxall's head half-way through the first round from which the School boy never fully recovered.

M. E. P. West (School) beat J. A. Heath Brown (Morley). West, a very hard hitter, did most of the attacking, and Heath Brown's aim in the first round was obviously to keep out of his opponent's reach. In the second round, however, he pluckily advanced to meet West's attacks, and a good fight ensued.

Final.—Louch beat West. Both combatants did a lot of holding and barging, and most of the punching was done with one or other on the ropes.

CLASS 3 (10ST. AND UNDER).

First Series.—H. E. Winter (Massingberd) beat C. H. Wadmore (School); R. W. Dipper (School) beat C. E. Taylor (Childe); F. P. Lambert (Massingberd) beat A. T. Taylor (Childe).

Semi-finals.—Dipper beat Winter. Winter, with little experience of the ring, knew how to hit, but Dipper's skill gave him the advantage. In the second round Winter commenced strongly but could not stand the pace.

D. A. Little (Childe) beat Lambert. Both boys having a good reputation for all-in fighting, this promised to be, and was, a good bout. Little employed rush tactics, while ducking was Lambert's favourite method of approach. Towards the end Little tired, but he won what the referee described as "a most excellent fight; very, very equal."

Final.—Little w.o. Dipper (scratched).

CLASS 4 (9ST. 7LBS. AND UNDER).

First Series.—T. Tidd (School) beat C. J. V. Fisher (Harding); G. A. Bacon (Harding) beat A. E. Crawte (Massingberd); J. O. Levison (Morley) beat R. W. Judd (School); H. de B. Brock (Massingberd) beat G. H. Lawrence (Harding).

Semi-finals.—Bacon beat Tidd. The attacker in this fight, Bacon advanced only at rare intervals throughout, but when he did some very good in-fighting resulted.

Levison beat Brock. Although probably the most expert boxer in the School, Levison found his skill matched by Brock's determination to punch his way through. The loser had the advantage of a long reach, but Levison's blows were more telling.

Final.—Bacon beat Levison. Each attempted to draw the other, but neither would open the attack, and the first round came to an end with neither having scored many points. In the second period, however, they got together once or twice and good encounters resulted, the referee describing the bout as "a very near thing."

CLASS 5 (9ST. AND UNDER).

First Series.—V. G. Anderson (Harding) beat G. R. J. Wilkinson (Childe).

Semi-finals.—Anderson beat S. F. Menday (School). An all-in fight from start to finish, both being inclined to swing, Anderson in particular, and missing often as a result. Referee: Two plucky fighters.

J. W. Clark (Massingberd) k.o. J. W. Stoye (Childe). At the start this promised to be another good all-in fight, but within a minute Clark floored Stoye, who was too dazed to carry on.

Final.—Clark beat Anderson. This was a good fight, the winner taking full advantage of his ability to get inside Anderson's swings.

CLASS 6 (8ST. 7LBS. AND UNDER).

First Series.—I. G. Findlay (Harding) beat L. Atkinson (Childe); F. W. Withers (School) beat R. F. Hughes (Childe); G. A. D. Evans (Childe) beat F. F. Foley (Morley); A. H. Pocock (Massingberd) beat P. E. D. Elphick (Morley).

Second Series.—Pocock beat C. D. Williams (Morley).

Semi-finals.—Findlay beat Withers. As the referee said, there was not a lot in this bout, both fighting on the defensive.

Pocock beat Evans.—Fighting in the first round was rather slow, but in the second period Evans showed his skill and, getting inside his opponent's reach, attacked hard with short snappy blows. But Pocock was more sure with his punches.

Final.—Findlay w.o. Pocock (scratched).

CLASS 7.

First Series.—P. H. Richmond (Childe) beat L. D. V. Moss (School); D. S. Dalton (Harding) beat B. O. Friend (Childe); J. R. Killick (Harding) beat R. J. Durham (School); P. F. Copping (Harding) beat N. S. Davies (School); D. J. McLeod (Massingberd) beat E. B. Laslett (Harding); C. Hewitson (Harding) beat A. Barnes (Morley).

Second Series.—Killick beat Copping; Hewitson beat McLeod.

Semi-finals.—Dalton beat Richmond. Dalton would have done better if he had gone straight in instead of swinging so much, but, even so, Richmond was no match for him.

Hewitson w.o. Killick (scratched).

Final.—Hewitson k.o. Dalton in the first round.

CLASS 8.

First Series.—L. A. Lintern (Morley) beat W. B. Witt (Massingberd); G. E. Wheeler (School) beat C. Weeks (Morley); B. H. Durham (School) beat R. A. Edmondson (Harding); W. E. Murray (Childe) beat W. J. Baker (School); R. C. Tomlin (Harding) beat J. M. Aylwin (School); W. A. Riseborough (Childe) beat D. Baker (Harding).

Second Series.—Wheeler beat Lintern; Durham beat Murray; Riseborough beat Tomlin.

Semi-finals.—Riseborough beat Durham. Durham's longer reach would have given him a strong advantage had it not been that Riseborough, being small, was an expert in the use of ducking.

Wheeler beat K. B. Talbot (Morley). This was a very slow fight, Wheeler winning only by a narrow margin.

Final.—Wheeler beat Riseborough. In an even first round, Riseborough found difficulty in reaching Wheeler, but in the second period he got in only to be beaten.

CLASS 9.

First Series.—S. F. Robinson (Childe) beat P. J. Levison (Morley); P. J. Rose (Harding) beat H. P. LeClercq (School); H. R. L. Johns

(School) beat M. S. Binning (Massingberd); F. R. Barclay (School) beat J. C. Clark (Massingberd).

Semi-finals.—Rose beat Robinson. Rose's footwork was very good, and he was an expert at feinting. His chief fault was a swing with the right, very few blows telling, but Robinson was unable to score at all.

Johns w.o. Barclay (scratched).

Final.—Rose beat Johns. Johns evaded many of Rose's heavy swings by very low ducking, but though he tried hard he could not land the number of blows Rose got in.

CLASS 10.

First Series.—J. M. Fowle (Harding) beat L. P. James (Massingberd); K. R. Kirk (School) beat P. French (Massingberd); F. H. S. Bridge (Massingberd) beat D. A. Preece (Childe); A. M. Mould (Massingberd) beat P. R. May (Childe); R. L. Webber (Morley) beat P. Tomlin (Harding); C. J. Johnson (Morley) beat M. Colwill (Childe).

Second Series.—Bridge beat Mould; Johnson beat Webber.

Semi-finals.—Kirk beat Fowle. Fowle was no match for the winner, but stood up to him gallantly throughout the two rounds, receiving the reward of the referee's "A very plucky boy."

Johnson beat Bridge.—Bridge was more direct with his punches, but Johnson was quicker with his blows.

Final.—Johnson beat Kirk. A very plucky fight, both boys fearing nothing and going all-in.

CLASS 11.

First Series.—J. R. Fordham (Massingberd) beat N. G. Rose (Harding); I. E. Dolley (Massingberd) beat J. A. Judge (School); D. B. Boulter (Morley) beat A. R. King (School); J. M. Hutchings (School) beat J. P. Parker (Harding); D. R. Goddard (School) beat I. Watts (Harding).

Second Series.—Hutchings w.o. Goddard (scratched).

Semi-finals.—Fordham beat Dolley. The winner just managed to get in the greater number of points in this close fight.

Hutchings beat Boulter. Boulter attacked, but Hutchings generally reaped the reward. Both were good and fearless little fighters.

Final.—Hutchings beat Fordham. The loser fought courageously, but Hutchings was much too good for him.

CLASS 12.

First Series.—D. L. P. Hopkins (Harding) beat M. F. Marshall (Childe); M. V. Edwards (Morley) beat K. Watts (Harding); J. W. Brine (Harding) beat A. G. Brown (Massingberd); D. E. Wood (Harding) beat A. J. Barter (School).

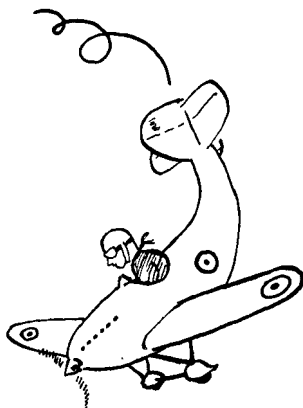

Second Series.—Wood w.o. J. I. Norton (Harding) scratched.

Semi-finals.—Edwards beat Hopkins. Edwards, wearing long shorts in the style of Alex. James, attacked from the start. Hopkins' footwork was good and he evaded many of his opponent's punches, but his attacking was weak.

Brine beat Wood. After being warned for hitting low, Wood hit his opponent on the forehead, much to the amusement of the spectators. These were the smallest combatants on the Friday. Brine deserved to win by reason of his more direct attack. Referee: Two plucky boys.

Final.—Edwards beat Brine. Handicapped by his smallness, Brine made determined efforts to reach his opponent, but Edwards kept him at bay and scored in doing so.

OLD FARNHAMIANs' ASSOCIATION.

MEMBERSHIP.

Since the last issue of the Magazine the following Old Boys have joined the Association:—

- A. E. Job (1933-1936), The Vicarage, Shottermill, Haslemere.
- J. S. Debenham (1929-1935), "Rosebank," Tilford Road, Farnham.
- E. A. F. Barker (1931-1936), 7, The Stalls, Warminster, Wilts.
- A. J. Beard (1929-1936), Ivy Cottage, Frensham, Farnham.
- L. M. Roberts (1929-1936), "Darlison," 43, Gordon Road, Camberley.
- F. L. Peachey (circa 1876), "Elms-Leigh," Marshall Road, Godalming.
- F. G. Pearce (circa 1900), 252, George Street, Brisbane, Queensland, Australia.
- L. W. H. Stock (1928-1933), 52, Inglis Road, Croydon.

In future the annual list of members will be published in the March issue of the Magazine. Various changes in membership and addresses will be noted in the July and December issues. The Treasurer threatens to publish in red names of members in arrears of subscriptions as a warning, to be followed by a Black List of members whose membership lapses through non-payment of subscription. (The Editor will probably refuse; the Magazine would become too unwieldy).

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Association was held at the School, when about 30 members were present. The President (Mr. F. A. Morgan) presided, being supported by the Hon. Secretary (Mr. J. E. Sims) and the Hon. Treasurer (Mr. G. H. Bacon).

Mr. Bacon reported an increase in membership during the year of four, making a total of 381. He proposed, and it was decided, that governors, elected for a period, who had paid three years' subscriptions, should be invited to continue as hon. members of the Association; also that the list of members should in future be published in the March Magazine, and not as previously in a separate pamphlet.

The income and expenditure account, said the Treasurer, showed a balance in hand of £21, as compared with £48 last year. The reason for that drop of £27 was that throughout the year £32 had been lent to the Entertainments Committee, of which only £7 (the result of Mr. Sims' special appeal) had been repaid. Subscriptions had been about the same, while there were the usual items of expenditure, including £1 1s. to the School prize fund and £4 loss on the dinner. What he did not like was the number of unpaid subscriptions. There were 40 owing for 1934 and an additional 53 for 1935.

The life subscription or deposit account showed an increase of £16 16s. (four subscriptions) during the year to £78 15s. He was not satisfied, said Mr. Bacon, at the interest the bank gave them on that money, and he suggested that they should invest it. Mr. Sims made a proposal to that effect, and, seconded by Mr. E. C. Patrick, it was carried, and a sub-committee, consisting of the Treasurer, Mr. E. C. Patrick and Mr. G. M. Aylwin, was appointed to invest the money.

There was a credit balance of £85 15s. 2d. in the Memorial Field Fund, including £50 presented by Mr. R. W. Mason and specially earmarked for a pavilion fund. Commencing the year with £64, they had received £4 in donations—excluding Mr. Mason's £50—and £7 from the Entertainments Committee. Expenditure included £5 15s. for fertilising, £22 for fencing, £4 10s. for netting, £7 17s. for stakes, nuts and bolts, etc., and 14s. 3d. bank charges.

The Chairman said there would be one definite expenditure on the field next year, viz., the laying on of water.

A balance of over £467 was reported in the Insurance Bureau accounts. At the beginning of the year there was a balance of £428, interest amounted to £13, commissions to £36, and donations to £1. £93 worth of War Stock had been bought at a cost of £100, expenses totalled £2 4s. 6d., and income tax accounted for £3 odd.

Speaking on the Insurance Bureau scheme, Mr. G. M. Aylwin said the net result of the year's working was £40, which, although not too bad, was not too good. A few weeks ago they had bought £93 worth of War Stock, which cost them £100, so actually they had earned about £50. That seemed to be the normal amount of their yearly income, with, he hoped, the possibility of booms to come. At the moment, he continued, they had to pay income tax because the Inland Revenue Authorities would not recognise the fund, under the present arrangement, as a charitable trust, owing to the fact that the trustees were under the direction of a committee, who, he remarked humorously, could if they wished vote the money to start a club, for instance. They were considering, however, the appointment of local trustees and would possibly call a special general meeting on the matter. As soon as the fund was established as a charitable trust they would get back all the money they had paid in income tax.

Their working expenses were very economical, being £2 4s. 6d., which included the £2 2s. fee to the Royal Exchange.

They still wanted new business, although the fund had got to the stage when it was growing under its own momentum. The interest was £13 this year, and they received annually £11 or £12 from recurring commissions, so that actually they had a definite income of about 10s. a week.

The President pointed out that no money had been spent during the year, as in the previous year, on a boy leaving School. He took it that if any pressing need arose during the next year they would wish the Bureau to devote the interest to that case. He hoped that the next fête they ran would be centred round the fund.

Reporting on the Sports Club, Mr. F. O. M. Taylor stated that the Cricket Club was self-supporting, but a loan of 10s. had been made to the Athletic Club. The balance in hand of about £12 10s. included the balance handed over by the Football Club when it gave up.

In reply to Mr. J. Hoar, who asked if it were impossible to run a football club, Mr. Taylor said the matter had been considered at a special meeting, but very little interest had been shown.

It was decided that a sub-committee be appointed to endeavour to get the Football Club and the Rifle Club going again during the 1937-8 season. The committee appointed consisted of Messrs. Taylor, J. Warren, J. Hoar, I. C. Patrick and A. J. Hillyer, with the School football captain (R. R. Kirk).

The Chairman, speaking about the Memorial Field, referred to the tennis court, which it is proposed be laid out at the top end.

Reporting on the Entertainments Committee, Mr. A. T. F. Funnell recalled the considerable loss due to the St. Patrick's Night dance being cancelled. They had a balance in hand of £8 6s.

The President said it was only fair to judge the Entertainment Committee not on its failures during the past year, but on its whole career, and the fact remained that it had at one time and another brought in large sums of money.

A discussion on future arrangements revealed that the annual dinner will be held on Saturday, January 30th. Details of the programme for the summer re-union will be attended to by the General Committee.

Officers elected for the year 1937 were: Hon. Treasurer, Mr. G. H. Bacon; Joint Hon. Secretaries, Mr. J. E. Sims and Mr. I. C. Patrick; Auditors, Mr. E. W. Langham and Mr. G. F. Wright. Of the General Committee, Messrs. V. H. Rumble, A. T. F. Funnell, E. G. Glynn, R. H. M. Taylor, J. G. Figg, L. F. G. Wright and H. W. Hern retire in 1938, and Messrs. H. Elphick, L. E. Lord, D. C. Horry, R. J. Ridout, S. G. Robins and G. J. Warren in 1937. The following, elected at the meeting, retire in 1939: Messrs. G. M. Aylwin, A. W. Ball, N. H. Hillyer, E. C. Patrick, J. Hoar, B. C. N. Giles, A. J. Hillyer and E. Williams.

The following were re-appointed members of the Insurance Bureau Committee: The President, the Chairman of the Governors (Mr. R. W. Mason), Messrs. G. M. Aylwin, D. J. Carter, L. G. Anderson, L. A. Gibson and C. N. Brooker, with the Hon. Secretaries and the Hon. Treasurer.

The new Entertainments Committee consists of Messrs. A. T. F. Funnell, S. J. Parsons, H. W. Hern, L. E. Lord, E. G. Glynn, F. O. M. Taylor, G. J. Warren, E. Williams, N. L. G. Tubb and M. Loughlin, with the Hon. Secretaries.

The Memorial Field Committee was re-elected en bloc, and is as follows:—The President, the Chairman of the Governors, Messrs. C. E. Borelli, L. F. G. Wright, G. M. Aylwin, J. M. Taylor, R. L. Wells, J. G. Figg and A. W. Ball, with one member of the Entertainments Committee, the Hon. Secretaries and the Hon. Treasurer.

THE DINNER.

As I found my appointed seat and looked round to see who were my fellow diners at the 11th Annual Dinner at the Bush Hotel on January 30th, I became aware of two outstanding absentees. Mr. R. W. Mason (Old Boy and Chairman of the Governors) and Mr. G. H. Ridout (present day master) were unable to be present, the former being confined to his house by doctor's orders and the latter having been called away to visit a sick relative.

The attendance, as a whole, was ten fewer than last year, but there were several new faces, while Mr. G. H. Bacon, our hard-working treasurer, was all there and on the warpath, as many of us can well testify. A costly business, this dinner!

Proposing the toast to "Absent Friends," Mr. Morgan, who was, of course, presiding, asked us to remember especially Mr. L. S. Tompsett (1863-67), who died in June last in his 83rd year, and Mr. Mason.

The calling of the roll is always a time for much cheering, but the applause with which Mr. William Stroud's name was greeted probably surpassed any that had ever previously been given on such an occasion. "Such a reception was rather distressing for the modest violet," said Our Bill, amid laughter. He went on to refer to the approaching 600th anniversary of the School, and his statement that the nation owed a great debt of gratitude to the Governors, masters and, particularly, the boys of the School was received with applause.

The toast to the Association was again proposed by a newcomer to the dinner, a member of two years' standing, Mr. W. A. Smallman, who, in a really witty speech, made a serious call for action and gave the members high ideals to reach for. "May it (the Association) long endure," were his concluding words, "as a living tribute to a fine old School and a bond of friendship between so many who have so much in common."

For the third time a Patrick's voice was heard at an O.F.A. Dinner, the reply to the toast being made by Mr. N. H. Patrick. He spoke of his schooldays, expressing the general feeling that the loss of those happy days would be so much more deeply felt if it were not for the fact that the Association brought them, old and young, together on such evenings as that. The value of the Association was the value of their good fellowship.

Many happy memories were recalled by Mr. C. E. Borelli, who, in proposing the toast to The School, told us not only of the School life in his schooldays (1880-87), but also of the town life in Farnham at that time. With regard to modern times, he spoke of the proposed improvements to the School buildings.

In his reply, Mr. Morgan stated that an O.B.A. gave much encouragement and stimulus to the masters of the School and also to the boys. He referred to a boy who in a shooting match that morning had scored a possible, and he thought it must be a great inspiration to that boy (G. G. Nolan) to know that the Old Boys knew he was keeping up their standards.

Mr. Morgan always seems to have some practical suggestions for us on these occasions. This year he urged Old Boys in good positions to let him know when vacancies occurred in their businesses so that boys of their old School might have a good chance of applying.

An excellent entertainment was provided between the speeches, and the School Song followed by the National Anthem, brought the evening officially to a close. "PEAR CARDINAL."

LIST OF THOSE PRESENT.

The President of the Association (Mr. F. A. Morgan, Headmaster of the School), Mr. G. H. Bacon and Mr. E. Munton (masters) and Messrs. G. Maxwell Aylwin, A. W. Ball, Ernest Barnard, W. Bartlett, L. B. S. Benge, C. E. Borelli, F. L. Borelli, J. G. Caesar, D. J. Carter, J. C. Casben, D. T. Clarke, J. H. Cooke, R. M. Craigen, A. W. Denyer, G. M. Elphick, H. Elphick, A. T. F. Funnell, R. A. Gates, L. A. Gibson, B. C. N. Giles, F. W. Grinstead, G. A. P. Hern, H. W. Hern, J. R. Hoar, F. A. Holloway, D. C. Horry, W. F. Larn, T. E. Lee, W. E. Loe, L. E. Lord, E. M. Loughlin, K. T. Mitchell, E. A. W. Morris, H. S. North, A. S. Nutt, R. J. Page, S. J. Parsons, E. C. Patrick, L. C. Patrick, N. H. Patrick, E. J. Pepler, A. Phillips, Hugh Robins, S. G. Robins, A. J. Ryall, W. A. Sherfield, K. B. Sherrington, L. J. Sherrington, J. E. Sims, R. W. Small, W. A. Smallman, W. S. L. Smallman, H. Smither, J. H. Smither, E. Stratford, F. O. Meddows Taylor, J. Meddows Taylor, P. Meddows Taylor, R. H. Meddows Taylor, N. L. G. Tubb, P. A. Vanner, M. Wells, R. L. Wells, S. D. Whetman, E. J. Williams, F. H. C. Wimbleton, G. F. Wright and L. F. G. Wright. Messrs. William Stroud and J. W. H. Stroud came in during the evening.

THE SPORTS CLUB.

The Annual Meeting of the Sports Club was held on March 1st, Mr. G. H. Bacon presiding. The Secretary stated that the financial position was satisfactory and there had been a fair response to an appeal, recently issued, for new members.

A review of the various sporting activities of the Association disclosed that cricket appears to be the only branch that is still flourishing. An attractive and complete fixture list has been arranged for the coming season. Any member who is keen to play cricket for the O.F.A. (regularly or otherwise) should get in touch with the Secretary, John Hillyer, whose address is in the list.

E. J. Williams hopes to carry on the Athletic Club with his loyal band of supporters; so many O.F.'s say they are "too old" to run that it is sometimes a difficult matter for him to get together a good team for matches.

It is hoped that some younger members, whose waist-lines are still "boyish" and muscles supple, will help to carry on the Athletic Club in a "live" manner.

The Badminton season is still in progress. New members next winter will be welcome.

GOOD NEWS.

The best news of the meeting was that concerning the possibility of re-forming the Football Club. The Secretary reported having received promises of support from several of the "younger brigade" of the O.F.A. There is at the present time every prospect of the Club functioning again next season. A few more promises from reliable O.F.'s and the prospect will become a matter of certainty. Anyone who is at all likely to be able to turn out—either regularly or just now and then—is asked to write now to the Sports Club Secretary.

Finally, a word to all members. The Sports Club is not "hard up," but it does require the moral support of a strong membership. This idea was made clear when the Sports Club was formed—it was to be in effect a "parent" body to the various activities: football, cricket, rifle club, athletics, etc. It was thought that some Old Boys who might not be able to play for the Association would like to show their special interest in the sporting side by joining the Club. All we want is a small subscription annually (anything from one shilling a year), plus your interest in the Club.

F. O. MEDDOWS TAYLOR.

CRICKET CLUB.

The list of fixtures for the 1937 season (to date) is given below. Most of our old opponents will be met again, but fresh ground will be broken when we play the Mid-Southern Utility Company, with whom, I feel sure, we shall have two very pleasant games. I take this opportunity of again appealing for more active playing members.

A.J.H.

The address of the Secretary is: A. J. Hillyer, 1, Sheephouse, Farnham.

The following is the list of fixtures:—

IN MEMORIAM.

20th February, 1937. R. W. MASON (1867 — 1872)
in his 79th year.

29th June, 1936. L. S. TOMPSETT (1863 — 1867)
in his 83rd year.

NEWS OF OLD BOYS.

Congratulations (somewhat belated) on their respective marriages to E. H. Heath (1919-1924), J. N. Roe (1916-1924), H. W. Allen (1920-1924), J. C. Casben (1923-1927), L. G. Simmons (1924-1928), and G. A. Allan (1915-1922). Our good wishes to all of them.

A. G. C. Head (1908-1910) issues a general invitation to anyone connected with "dear old F.G.S.—old boys, new boys or anyone else"—to go over his place of business at Stamford Hill. He urges that it is better to have too much than not enough to do—he's on the Board of five Companies with which he has been associated for the past eleven years!

R. J. Pesterfield (1926-1932) could not stand being in a stuffy office all the time, as a civilian, and is now in the R.A.S.C.

A. E. Job (1933-1936) says it's a wonderful life at Cambridge (Until we hear full details we shall persist in our 'sisterly' opinion of this 'other place.'—Ed.)

W. J. Haydon (1931-1933) is very busily farming at home. His brother helps with tractor maintenance work. "W. J." supervises and accelerates the actual manual labour; at times an unenviable job, especially during potato harvest when a gang of women is usually employed! He is almost too occupied to notice the passage of the years, especially as they grow sugar beet, a crop entailing more labour than any other, pulling lasting from the end of October until Christmas, leaving but eight or ten weeks before sowing season starts again. He won't allow, typically, that farming is on the upward trend, but does permit himself "that the decline has possibly been arrested!"

W. N. B. George (1929-1932) is in his last year at Liverpool. By July he will be hawking portfolio and T-square from architect to architect. He's hoping the South will be more sympathetic than the North! Although busy this year with a Thesis, he still finds time to play Soccer for the University. Their tour was down South, playing matches against London, Birmingham and Bristol Universities. They managed to win the Northern Universities Championship.

B. A. L. Langridge (1929-1932) is in the Tax Collection Office at Colchester, under the new scheme of centralisation. In his entrance examination he was placed 3rd out of about a hundred candidates (Good!). He's not quite sure whether he's a Civil or "uncivil" servant—depends upon the point of view.

R. E. Mair (1932-1936) has plunged into the Insurance world and with a view to taking the Preliminary of the C.I.I. is attending evening classes. Sport is almost crowded out so that he has come to the opinion that school is the best time of one's life.

We offer very warm congratulations to C. E. Borelli (1880-1887) on being admitted to the freedom and livery of the Worshipful Company of Clockmakers, whose Charter was granted in 1631. It is noteworthy that another O.F., H. Rendell, was a member of the Court attending the ceremony.

Congratulations to A. P. Tice (1912-1914) on being appointed a Justice of the Peace.

J. C. Griffin (1917-1919) definitely states that he is a Civil Servant—Clerk of Works for the Air Ministry, stationed at R.A.F. Camp at Upavon. He cheered our hearts in the dull days of winter with a delightful word-picture of Weymouth Harbour—which augurs well for the contributions we expect from him if he should go abroad.

A. W. Fry (1925-1930) is now in the Isle of Wight, having obtained an appointment on the I.O.W. County Press.

C. E. Jones (1923-1929), after being out of competitions for two months last season owing to foot trouble, recovered in time to get quite a number of "firsts" and Surrey County Colours.

H. J. Lyons (1924-1927) greeted us in the New Year with a long and very welcome letter. He is at present chiefly engaged in research work at his old College—University. His brother, "T.G.," has been in Palestine since last September.

K. W. W. Bartlett (1925-1932) indignantly denies all activities attributed to him in the December issue. [Many apologies! We were led astray!—Ed.] He advises D. W. Taylor to keep away from furnaces; "they" are the actual makers! He finds his work fairly interesting, but the secrecy surrounding everything is very irksome. Was involved in a car smash last summer: car completely smashed; slight head wounds!

G. W. C. Hartley (1928-1933) has, in his own words, managed to become "a fairly efficient" hairdresser. He finds there is still a great deal to learn, as every customer presents a different problem. Some of them prove more difficult and terrible to look at than any of those presented by Mr. Munton in days gone by! He is now at Farnborough—a village "that exceeds even Camberley in its drabness and dreariness"! He is keen to move to, or near, London! To relieve the monotony he became the possessor of a motor-bike, a somewhat disreputable machine (his own description), which has on more than one occasion left him stranded several miles from home. The chief advantage of his possession is that it has caused a daily improvement in his vocabulary!

P. J. Woods (1928-1933) still finds life very pleasant at Shamley Green. He manages to keep fit by playing Badminton twice a week for the first team.

H. W. Greenfield (1926-1929), via Farnham, Guildford, Richmond and Bromley, has arrived at Putney, where he has settled for the moment. Whilst at Richmond he played cricket for the Town XI. and last season was top of the averages for batting and catching, with the first century of his life included! This will be staggering news for those who remember "H.W.'s" "stay-in" but non-strike innings on the School pitch. They may be further staggered by his final words: "I'm really working hard at last."

N. H. Patrick (1921-1931) keeps fit by taking riding exercise at 6.30 a.m. each day!

R. J. Sutton (1928-1934) is in the Cost Office of Messrs. Drummond Bros., of Guildford. He is studying for the Intermediate Examination of the Institute of Costs and Works Accountants, of which he is a Registered Student. J. C. Casben (1923-1927) and A. W. Denyer (1923-1928) are with the same firm, the former sitting for his Final I.C.W.A. soon and the latter taking Intermediate Chartered Secretaries' Examination.

C. S. Pope (1920-1927) is in the Customs and Excise at Northampton.

J. H. Puttick (1926-1932) is now at Rye. He hopes to complete his Intermediate of the Chartered Surveyors' Institution this year and carry on for the Final in March, 1938. [Best wishes!—Ed.]

We were glad to have news of F. R. Stiff (1919-1923). He is with Hanovia, Ltd., makers of 90% of the world's Ultra-Violet Quartz Mercury Vapour Lamps. He went to Berlin for the Olympic Games (as a spectator) and is most enthusiastic about them. The whole show was magnificent, and the treatment and arrangements were carried out with typical efficiency. He advises anyone who wants an enjoyable holiday at an absurdly low cost to pay a visit to any of the well-known—or, better, not well-known—pleasure resorts there. He plays hockey for Birkbeck College and still enjoys his Annual Camp in the Supplementary Reserve of Officers, Royal Tank Corps.

It was with extreme regret that we heard of the death (last June) of L. S. Tompsett (1863-1867), the second oldest "Old Boy" amongst our members. "F.G.T." writes: "He enjoyed very good health until the last few months of his life. His last holiday was spent in visiting some of the old villages around Farnham and wandering along the old lanes he knew so well in his younger days. During the last few weeks of his life he spoke many times of the happy days he had at the Grammar School."

Congratulations to E. C. Patrick (1920-1926) on his various shooting exploits of last season. [Details were received too late for the December Magazine.] He was a member of the English XX. Club team which won the National Challenge Trophy, tied with top score in Surrey's winning team in the County Championship, was top scorer in the Surrey XX. Club team which beat the London Swiss Club, tied with top score for the City R.C. in the annual match against the North London R.C., and finished 64th in the Hundred Roll. He made top score for "The Rest" who beat England in the International Long Range Match, for which he got his colours. Various prizes at Bisley included 17th place out of about 800 entries for "The Duke of Gloucester's" prize.

E. A. Stroud (1919-1929) is now in the last stage of his London B.Sc. Engineering Course and expects to take Finals in June.

L. R. Dowsett (1926-1931) runs a Children's Cinema weekly at Haslemere during the winter months (proceeds to Guildford Cathedral) and an amateur film society in the summer. He is Assistant Rating and Valuation Officer to the Haslemere Urban District Council.

E. A. W. Morris (1923-1928) sends news of work done happily and prosperously. He is in charge of a factory, with over a hundred hands. He is at present enjoying the satisfaction of an inventor over the successful working out of his own design for a particular piece of machinery.

L. J. Sargeant (1921-1926) expressed surprise at the wrong initials and wrong spelling of his name in the despatches of the December Magazine. [Many apologies!—Ed.] He pretends to recognise the O.F.A. Treasurer's handwriting after some years, but had no doubts as to the contents of the letter! The Treasurer has no doubts that many others could make the same remark!

S. G. Hill (1919-1923) has left the R.A.F. and is now working for his bread and butter like any other honest citizen—so he says. After nine happy years in the Air Force and a temporary job, he has become a member of Imperial Airways, Ltd. He was working with the new flying boats at Southampton. After a return to Croydon he goes abroad once more—to Karachi, India. As many times in the past, he expresses his appreciation of the Magazine—"still packed full of interest, though, of course, the names of the 'Great Ones' to-day are not the same as I used to know."

C. G. Newman (1923-1926) must speak for himself: "My decline and fall since 1934 has been swift and unmistakable. I am now qualifying to be one of the best-hated men in England. Not to put too fine a point on it, I am under training as an Assistant Inspector of Taxes. Hence my sojourn, temporary I trust, among the slag-heaps and liquorice works of Pontefract. The town has one good feature—there is an excellent service of buses away from it!"

L. F. Naylor (1917-1922) has not yet started middle-age spread! He is a cheerer of the Editorial heart. [Yes, he has one!] "I still find the Magazine most interesting; helps one to live the old days over again." To those whom it concerns he urges: "It's high time a Massingberd revival set in. They were top of the tree when some of us bade farewell in 1922."

G. J. Knotts (1928-1934) still finds the work at Waterloo very interesting—very busy with a big reconstruction programme and the electrification to Portsmouth, Alton and Reading. His spare time is devoted to working for the Intermediate (Part 2) Examination of the Chartered Surveyors' Institution.

H. S. North (1924-1932) has left Messrs. Whiteley's, where he was in the Optical Department for the last nine months, and is now managing a branch for Messrs. Hudson Verity in Westminster Bridge Road.

"It is one of the good things of an Old Boys' Association," writes G. A. Allan (1915-1922) "that a Red Letter Day in the life of a member can still be a matter of interest to his old associates. It is remarkable how the memory of schoolfellows remains even after many years' widening of the gap between leaving school."

D. F. Wagstaff (1927-1934) has passed the final examination of the Worshipful Company of Spectacle Makers and has obtained an Honours Diploma for the two years' course in Ophthalmic Optics at the Northampton Polytechnic. Athletics are giving way to work for Honours examinations.

P. G. Chalcraft (1928-1930) for the last five years has been with Messrs. James Duke and Son, millers, of Bishop's Waltham. He enjoys the work—buying and selling. For Harding House he quotes: "Stet Fortima Domus!"

V. Dyson (1921-1928) is still farming—with a "nice" retail milk business and one of the two "attested" herds in the county. For some obscure reason he mentions January 1st as "a terrible time of the year"!

R. Baldwin (1928-1934) is with the Berkshire County Police. He gets in as much boxing at Windsor as he can and has received, so he says, some pretty hard bashings from some of the professionals—"vastly different from School boxing."

W. F. Alderton (1904-1911) as a side line has become a First Class Instructor in Aid Raids Precautions. As Surveyor, he takes over all trunk roads in the County (Gloucestershire) in April—a full and busy programme.

S. E. A. Glynn (1918-1923) is contemplating becoming a Life Member of the Association!

C. N. Brooker (1914-1918) is still hard at work! In his leisure moments he conducted the orchestra for the "Maid of the Mountains" at the Theatre Royal, Bognor Regis, given by the local Amateur Operatic Society. This also meant the job of training chorus and soloists. Report says that the show was up to professional standard. [Congratulations!—Ed.]

L. W. Cash (1920-1926), though now saddled with the responsibilities of a husband, writes as cheerily and encouragingly as ever!

R. W. Horne (1921-1930) is now in India with his regiment. Some day we are hoping to have first-hand news of his adventures.

E. A. F. Barker (1931-1936) is a clerk with the Warminster Timber Company.

S. S. Dawes (1925-1931) has been transferred to the Southampton office of his Insurance Company. He is enthusiastic about the Y.M.C.A. in London and recommends it to any fellow who is leaving School and having to live in London. He has taken up hockey and plays for the second eleven of the Southampton Club. He found "Spud" Murphy playing for the Y.M.C.A. Hockey Club in London.

R. F. Baker (1924-1926) played for the Metropolitan Police Cricket Team last season. When the Coronation is over, he hopes to settle down to another good season. Waterlogged pitches have limited his football activities.

D. H. M. Graham (1921-1926) is now with the No. 55 (B) Squadron, R.A.F., at Hinaidi, Iraq. He went out last October, his fifth visit since he obtained his commission last January twelve-month. He is enjoying things greatly. The climate, on the whole, is very pleasant in winter, making up for the summer, when the temperature reaches 120° F. in the shade! There is plenty of sport, games or hunting, shooting and fishing. "But never let yourself be persuaded that Baghdad is a 'fairy city of Eastern romance'! It's the noisiest, smelliest and dirtiest city I've ever come across!"

R. J. Turner (1926-1934) finished his training course at Dollis Hill last September and has since been engaged in practical training in the North Wales district. He is gaining some idea of the multifarious activities of the Post Office Engineering Department. "The more I see of some places the more I think: 'What do they know of Farnham who only Farnham know?' After being in Birmingham for the past three months, Shrewsbury is a bower of sweet dreams by comparison. I have not yet had to learn Welsh, but I find Welsh place-names very fascinating. Names like Machynlleth, Caersws and Pwllheli take on an entirely novel aspect if you know how to pronounce them." [No doubt!—Ed.] He takes two more subjects for his Intermediate Engineering in the summer, and at some time in the distant future hopes to take his Final.

B. P. Harper (1934-1935) has returned to the Eldore Dairy, Eldoret, in Kenya Colony. Though his last habitat, Kipkabus, another 1,000ft. higher than Eldoret, had some lovely scenery, it was terribly lonely. He enlarges technically on tick-horn disease and its treatment—apparently every cow had to be dipped or hand-dressed every three days. He is hoping that a Polo Club will be started locally, as at present a game means a 30 mile jaunt—with petrol at 3s. a gallon! One of his dearest hopes is that Morley is "permanent Cock-House"!

B. K. Ground (1923-1930) has been appointed Third Officer on SS. "Vita," which plies between Bombay and Karachi. He is not due for leave for 18 months.

Good news of J. C. Ground (1923-1930)! He has been discharged from Ninette Sanatorium and is now working on a farm about 50 miles from Winnipeg. He is in good health, very cheerful and enjoying the life. He would welcome letters from any of his contemporaries; address: Box No. 61, Kawende P.O., Oakville, Manitoba, Canada.

R. J. Gale (1921-1925) may be leaving his curacy at Paisley during the next 12 months. He writes that he is exceedingly happy in his work and, though the response is not always encouraging, the people are quite kind.

H. N. Woodroffe (1916-1924) writes very optimistically from Farnborough—there must have been something of an “elixir” hidden in those years, as he seriously contemplates, even as his contemporary S. E. A. Glynn, becoming a Life Member.

E. G. Marsh (1922-1926) has been transferred from the Post Office, Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, to the Department of Lands, where he says he toils for 6½ hours daily on behalf of the Farmers’ Debt Adjustment Board. He has recently passed the final examination of the Chartered Institute of Secretaries. As a result of this examination he has been awarded the “Institute Oversea” Prize for first place among candidates from overseas centres. [Hearty congratulations!—Ed.] He still plays cricket, having had the doubtful pleasure of batting against the South African fast bowler, A. J. Bell. He comes home on leave in April or May and hopes to be available for O.F.A. cricket, if required!

STOP PRESS.

S. E. A. Glynn and H. N. Woodroffe have become Life Members.

As a final item, may the O.F.A. Treasurer thank those Old Boys who, unwittingly and maybe now “I-wish-I-hadn’t’ly,” have provided most of the above information. He expresses sincere personal gratitude for innumerable cheery and encouraging letters—and official thanks for the almost invariable accompanying enclosures! Long and frequently may they continue!
