Ghe Farnhamian.

Vol. XXV., No. 1.

March, 1938.

Editorial Notes.

It is with profound regret that we have to record the death of Mr. J. C. Nicol, for nearly 10 years a Governor of the School. A classical Scholar of his College at Cambridge, he eventually became Headmaster of Portsmouth Grammar School, where for 30 years, from 1892 to 1922, he laboured so successfully. Upon retirement he came to live in Farnham, and it was our good fortune to have the benefit of his wide experience during the time that he was a member of the Board of Governors. After a lifetime of service he was concerned right up to the end in the great business of educating boys.

At the funeral at Farnham Parish Church, the School was represented by the Headmaster and the Chairman of the Governors.

The new appointments this term are as follows: Sub-Prefects: J. A. Heath-Brown, R. G. Newberry; Football: J. O. Levison (Captain), T. R. Alston (Vice-Captain); Shooting: H. de B. Brock (Vice-Captain).

Speech Day.

This great annual event took place in a fresh setting last term. Thanks to the kindness of Mr. C. J. Donada, we were able to meet, five hundred strong, in the comfortable, warm and charming County Cinema. As if to mark the occasion, there was an unusually large number on the platform to support our new Chairman of Governors (Mr. C. E. Borelli), and there was an overflow of notabilities into the first row of the stalls.

In his opening remarks the Chairman gave a very interesting sketch of the School, dating from the 80's, when he was himself a pupil, and cheered us by expressing the hope that the Surrey County Council would soon replace the "temporary" huts by a more functionally more dignified and suitable building. Following him, the Headmaster gave a full account of all the manifold activities of the School during the past year. remarks will be known to most of our readers, but it may be a good thing to repeat here one important observation out of many. If a boy enters a secondary school at the age of 12, he will not generally take the School Certificate until he is 17. The remedy, of course, in the case of the slow boy (70 per cent. in most schools) is to begin the course at 11. "I sometimes feel," he said, "that only too many parents are not sufficiently careful about the education of their sons before the age of 11."

Our chief guest was Mr. Godfrey Nicholson, M.P. for Farnham, who gave us a most interesting address, devoted largely to school life and the uses and abuses of education. His wife, Lady Katharine Nicholson, very graciously presented the prizes and was herself presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums as a token of our appreciation by P. W. Riseborough.

Later, after a much appreciated entertainment, the Governors, staff and others interested in the School were the guests of Mr. and Miss Borelli at the Regal Café, where tea was taken and introductions made to the Member and his wife. The thanks of all present were suitably expressed by the Headmaster.

ENTERTAINMENT PROGRAMME.

English Recitation: An Ode by T. Gray, "On a Favourite Cat Drowned in a Tub of Gold Fishes." B. Quail.

French Recitation: "Les Animaux Malades de la Peste." The Lion, T. R. Alston; The Owl, H. de B. Brock; The Fox, H. R. Johns; The Wolf, J. J. Lowry; The Bear, D. J. Reeve; The Donkey, G. E. Wheeler.

Songs by the Juniors: "Hark, Hark, the Lark," Schubert. "Rose among the Heath," Schubert. "Song of the Sea King," Percy E. Fletcher.

The proceedings closed with the School Song and the National Anthem.

Photographic Society.

Two meetings of the Photographic Society have been held this term.

Arrangements for the use of the dark room and suggestions for further meetings were discussed. A very interesting talk on the various methods of development of films, and of the chemicals used, was given by Mr. Lock. Arrangements were made for R. G. Newberry to make up any chemical solutions required by the members. This will considerably reduce the cost of home development, which has hitherto been the only drawback to this hobby.

J. A. Heath-Brown.

Solution to Crossword Puzzle.

Across.—3, Animadvert; 8, Entail; 9, Tactlessly; 10, Beagle; 11, Slogan; 12, Adore; 13, Asses; 17, Insubordination; 20, Learn; 21, Agape; 22, Kaolin; 24, Needle; 25, Misleading; 26, Leered; 27, Observance.

Down.—1, Intending; 2, Dangerous; 3, Alter; 4, Inconsideration; 5, Dwells; 6, Ensign; 7, Trying; 11, Senna; 14, Women; 15, Staggered; 16, Compelled; 18, Akimbo; 19, Jousts; 20, Linear; 23, Angle.

J. W. STOYLE.

Debating Society.

On November 19th Mr. Reeve proposed that "Euthanasia should be legalised in this country." He said it meant the putting to sleep of people suffering, in awful agony, from incurable diseases. Animals were put to death if they were in pain; why should human beings be denied this? Mr. Taylor, opposing the motion, said that it was reverting to barbarism. The doubt in the minds of a man's relations after his death, caused by their not knowing if he were really incurable, would produce nervous wrecks and thus Euthanasia would do more harm than good. The motion was carried by 18 votes to five.

Mr. W. A. Smallman gave, on November 26th, a talk on "Newspapers." He was afterwards asked several questions. A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Alston.

The final meeting of the Autumn Term took place on December 3rd. Called a "Members' Evening," it was an experiment, being a series of two-minute impromptu talks on various subjects; it was completely successful.

The preliminary meeting of the Debating Society for the new term was held on January 14th in order to elect a Vice-Chairman and Committee and to arrange the programme of debates for the term.

On January 21st a very interesting talk was given by Mr. Nolan on "The development of armaments in aviation." A vote of thanks was afterwards proposed by Mr. Reeve.

Mr. Atkinson proposed the motion that "The horse, except for sport, is obsolete" on January 28th. He said that horses were used for three things, viz., farming, the carrying of passengers or the carrying of merchandise. In farming it was being superseded by the tractor. It could not carry more than one passenger and it was quite out of use for carrying merchandise. Mr. Lowry, opposing the motion, said that on a small farm a tractor could not be afforded and a horse was invaluable. In America and Australia vast stretches could be patrolled only by horses, and there the horse would never be obsolete. The motion was defeated by 17 votes to six.

"The reading of '2d. Bloods' is detrimental to the well-being of the younger generation" was thrashed out by the House on February 11th. Mr. Over, who proposed the motion, said that gunmen and criminals were set up in fame and glory, and "Bloods" could not, therefore, be thought fit reading for young children. Mr. Pierce, opposing, said that "2d. Bloods" contained adventure stories which were ideal for boys. They were not read in the spirit that would do harm. The motion was carried by 14 votes to 12.

Another successful "Members' Evening" completed the programme of debates for the Spring Term on February 18th.

Pastorale.

(d'après R.H., "The Farnhamian," March, 1937).

Dans les buissons sautillant, Les oiseaux, gazouillant, Font de secrets nids; Mainte jolie fleur petite, Bouton d'or et marguerite, Dans les pres sourit; De petits agneaux, bêlant, Gambadent en chancelant Parmi les brebis; Un cheval, calme et superbe, Se recueille, en broutant l'herbe--C'est son pain bénit; S'ébattent quelques enfants Tout près, avec de bruyants Et de joyeux cris. Ah, si l'Homme pouvait suivre Cet heureux exemple et vivre Gaiement, sans soucis!

First Impressions of Palestine.

We had passed Gibraltar at 5.30 one morning. Malta had been seen as the dim blur of a few lights in the distance a night or two later. And now we were come to Haifa, swiftly growing to be Palestine's most busy port.

Twenty miles away we had marked the intermittent flash of the light on Mount Carmel, and gradually a city had been disclosed, brilliantly lit, on the side of a steeply-rising hill. The topmost lamps seemed to mingle with the stars.

The great 18,000 ton ship slid gently to a stop; signals from her were answered on shore. Presently twin green and red lights bobbing on the sea like a crazed cork took shape as a motor pilot-boat, and with deft poles it was manœuvred to the ladder hanging loose over the ship's side. The pilot came aboard.

Swinging wide as she slowly moved forward, and nosed around by fussy tugs, the ship turned into the sound that was bounded by two long moles and berthed alongside the quay. Huge sheds and warehouses were separated from the sea by a railway. The gangway was derricked into position, and various port officials passed up it. Palestine—and journey's end.

Next morning all were astir early, preparing to disembark, and noting the various busy-nesses taking place on shore. An Italian cargo boat, the "Gerusaleme," was next to us. A long file of Arabs entered her hold, to emerge soon, each man bent nearly to the ground, a 200-lb. sack of grain on his back. To assist carrying, a thong looped around the sack's centre was taken across the Arab's forehead. Horses and cattle on the deck of the "Gerusaleme" were unloaded by means of a sling under their bellies. Very startled the beasts were, and they collapsed to their knees on reaching the ground. Rude thwacks on their rumps, however, brought realisation of man, and they staggered to their feet.

We came ashore and entered our train. We were not to see Haifa properly; the dock railway was too far from the town. But such buildings as were near enough to distinguish in detail bore mostly German-Jewish names—tall, square, concrete erections, with modern flat façades, broken by regular slits and gashes of high, narrow windows, and an almost complete absence of chimneys.

Haifa is entirely a modern city, constructed since the British Mandate commenced. It is at the sea end of the Iraqi pipeline, and the flat, gasometer-like oil tanks span a good quarter of the wide bay that run 10 miles north to Acre. Our train ran smoothly below the heights of Carmel and we came to less pretentious houses and to the Plain of Esdraelon. For 20 miles the line ran between wide stretches of white breakers melting on golden sands, and comparatively extensive, though only moderately efficiently, cultivated land. In the distance, folds of scrub-covered and sometimes almost completely bare, hillside provided an irregular horizon. Occasionally figures in the fields were observed—labourers of both sexes and all ages; the traditional ass, ox and camel were forms of transport and tillage still used, though motor lorries and cars sped along the metalled roads.

Once or twice we saw flocks of sheep and goats, sometimes a hundred or more of each, inextricably mixed—a vivid reminder of biblical simile. Then, as the railway turned away from the coast, our train ran through orchards of orange trees, many still bearing their fruit, neither quite green or golden. Many showed signs of harvest taken; over a million cases of them had already been shipped to Western Europe by the end of October—perhaps a total of ten million cases before the season ends. (It is only the green ones that are exported; any bearing the slightest "sun-kiss" will deteriorate and infect the remainder before arrival at their destination). Newly fenced in some areas, the orchards were often bounded by a hedge of prickly pear; an effective barrier, that.

Eventually we reached Lydda Junction, where the direct line from Haifa to Egypt is joined by branches that run east to Jerusalem and west to Jaffa. We chose the former, and found we had to embark in a narrow-gauge single-track line threading a tortuous route between high, rocky mountains, almost devoid of vegetation. Boulders and crags by the thousand appeared only crazily balanced almost above our heads, and often we could touch, as we went along, the rocky sides of the culverts carved out of the mountainside. The track wound in and out—sometimes at the side of a hill, with a sheer drop of seven or eight hundred feet on one hand and a precipitous cliff on the other. Less habitable became the slopes, till one thought: "A land flowing with milk and honey indeed! No bee could find a respectable living here."

Arrival at Jerusalem brought us once more to regions of civilisation. A city set on a hill, in very truth—nearly 3,000ft. above sea-level. The modern portion, in varied stages of progress, contains many fine buildings, offices, groups of flats, some a dozen floors or more, and all of stone. And such stone—more yellow than limestone, marbled with pink, or sometimes a gleaming white.

The Holy City is confined within its ancient walls, tall ramparts 40 to 50ft. high. Narrow streets, almost lanes, only perhaps 5ft. wide, flanked by tiny boxes of shops with counters only a couple of feet square, sufficient to carry a pair of scales and to display and pack up goods. The rest is "stock." No shop windows, everything en plein air, but stout shutters for safety at night.

These streets are paved with slippery stones and are thronged with Arabs, Jews, Europeans, in all descriptions of dress—a Bedouin in flowing robes, who might have served with Lawrence, jostles a sleek Turk in modern dress, but recognisable by his scarlet fez, while an ass, laden with boxes and bundles, picks its way delicately along. Often a camel, turning an inquiring head from side to side, pads slowly past, the bell at its neck monotonously clanging.

An Oriental odour pervades all: stale fish, rotting fruit, human and animal sweat, and worse, combine to convey a sense of squalid prisoning, and one is glad to emerge to the cleaner—but not a great deal—streets of the modern city.

But this is not all of Palestine. Imagine a country no larger than Wales, with a cultivated coastal plain rising to a ridge of mountains never less than 1,500ft. above sea-level, with peaks 4,000ft. in the north and 3,350ft. in the south, over 30 miles wide; and then the same ridge falling on the other side to Jordan and the Dead Sea, 1,300ft. below sea-level. Jericho is warm even in the winter, and a veritable hell's cauldron in the summer. Nevertheless, while only one town having meteorological records is hotter, Jericho is probably the world's primary source of potash, and fleets of lorries daily convoy this valuable commodity, only slightly refined, to the coast.

The coastal towns, Haifa, Acre, Tel Aviv and Jaffa, have their various importances, the first two as major ports, and Jaffa similarly during the citrus season. Tel Aviv is a seaside resort only recently built by the Jewish community. These towns are all tempered from the heat of summer by the winds of the Mediterranean, but these same winds are laden with moisture, and the urban humidity is high, though blessed with a gratifying coolness at night.

In the hills, the climate ranges from nearly freezing-point.

though never quite 32° F., to over the hundred mark in the summer. The air is dry and dusty and conducive to lung affections, but otherwise is healthy, except for the tender ministrations of bands of armed Arabs, mostly recruited from Syria, whose sense of humour is distinctly low; the blowing-up or dismantling of sections of the railway lines, and the capture of the complete staff of isolated police posts are mere comedy to them, and the throwing of bombs at stray passers-by or a few shots at a well-filled omnibus are only quips and jests. However, we are still alive!

Frenzied Crime.

AN OUTBURST IN ONE ACT.

With a Sleuth, a Wicked Villain, no Plot to speak of, and some very Exciting Moments.

The first instalment (and the last.—Ed.) of our soul-stirring new serial.

"Pough," said the Sleuth, taking his foot out of the inkwell and humming Ruebens' fourth sonata for G. strings with his left ear. "Pough, I shall have had Dr. Cracowitzcoff and all his rascally crew safely in gaol by then. The Crown Prince will be able to bring his new bicycle to England with nothing to fear from them."

"I think not, my friend," said an ice-cold voice from the refrigerator in the corner (so cold that you could hear the polar bears whistling to keep themselves warm).

I drew my wristwatch in self-defence, but the Sleuth never moved a muscle. Not one.

"Good evening, Dr. Cracowitzcoff," I said incisively (I had been practising speaking that way all morning, and I felt that here was my great chance). "To what do we owe the pleasure of your visit? Are you here to confess to the murder of the Prime Minister's lizard or do you wish to hear my master play the 'Blessed Pair of Foghorns' on his harp?"

"I am here," answered the Doctor, coming out of the icebox and thawing the ice on his beard with a petrol-lighter, "to warn you to keep clear of my path. I am determined the Crown Prince will not cross the frontier with his bicycle, and nothing will stop me in my plans. Thwart me at your peril."

"Pough," said the Sleuth, not moving a muscle.

"Very well," grated the Doctor, as he slid down the fire escape; "to-night you will die."

"Winkleberry," said the Sleuth, addressing me for the first time for three months and shooting two spies who were creeping in through the chimney, "we must wait and watch. To-night we shall be attacked, and we shall not be off our guards." Night fell. It fell suddenly, as night falls in Wonga Wonga Land—so suddenly that it broke two windows and the milk bottle on the front step.

As the impenetrable darkness fell in large chunks all about us, I felt that something was entering the room by the keyhole. It must be the dreaded Pink Nightshirts, Dr. Cracowitzcoff's ruffianly band who were feared in 17 countries and an island in the southern Pacific. They always entered by the keyhole.

Knowing that his threats were of no avail and that even now the Sleuth's pack of trained duck-hounds were on his trail, the Doctor had acted. Armed with wicked penwipers and deadly tin-openers, his men had come to remove his hated enemy.

I waited, rooted to the spot with fear.

But not so the Sleuth.

Drawing himself to his full height with a piece of crayon and a sheet of cartridge paper, he said in a voice like thunder, which set all the door knockers banging for 2\frac{3}{4} miles around: "Pough."

It was enough.

Not even the toughened hearts of the worst villains for four generations could stand the wrath of a Sleuth. Recoiling against the wall so heavily that they passed right out, they left us alone with the night.

But not for long.

There came a knock at the door.

The Sleuth had justtime tofixafalse nosetohisfaceina hurry when the Crown Prince rushed in on his bicycle. But it had no handlebars.

Where are the Crown Prince's handlebars?

AUTUMN TERM.

The School elevens have not been so successful as usual owing to a lack of seasoned players. In the First XI., in fact, there were only three of the previous year's team left, and they had to accustom themselves to new positions as there was a lot of experimenting at the beginning. The Second XI. were very young and consequently inexperienced, but they should do well in the future.

After starting off in grand style against Woking, the First XI. had no further success in the Cup. They lost twice to Guildford and were actually beaten in the second game with Woking. But it may fairly be said that the team was better than the scores suggest.

The other matches of the First XI. have been keenly contested, the School winning more games than it lost. In general the margins were narrow. The opposite can be said of the Second XI. games, in which the scores oscillated widely for and against the School.

Boxing.

Some good boxing was seen in the competition last term, as will be seen from accounts of the semi-final and final bouts printed below. We have to thank Mr. F. L. Swain and the Rev. J. Penry Davey for acting as referees, the latter remarking at the conclusion that he had thoroughly enjoyed watching the contests, which had been so sportingly fought out. There had not been one single unsporting action.

The senior classes were divided solely by weight, but the others were classified according to a number arrived at by a combination of age and weight.

One interesting fact may be noted: B. G. Louch has won his class for five consecutive years.

There were 110 entrants, School House (25) having the most. Childe, Morley and Massingberd had 22 each and Harding 19. Points were awarded as follows: ½ point for entry; 1 for passing through the preliminary rounds; 2 for reaching the semi-final; and 3 for winning in the final round. Morley, with winners in five classes and two other finalists, obtained 56 points to win the inter-house trophy. Massingberd, who were second with 42 points, had six finalists of whom one won his fight. Harding's three finalists all won their bouts and their house occupied third place with 36½ points. School House were fourth with 35½ points and Childe fifth with 35 points.

CLASS 1 (OVER 11ST. 10LBS.).

Semi-final.—D. J. Reeve (Morley) beat M. C. Colwill (Childe).— Colwill stood up pluckily to his punishment, but it was obvious from the start who would win. A good, plucky fight was the referee's comment in stopping it.

T. R. Alston (Massingberd) beat A. St. C. Garrood (School House).— As a contrast to the other semi-final, fighting was cautious in this bout, both attacking in turn. In the second round, fighting was much more brisk, Alston getting the better of some early exchanges.

Final.—Reeve beat Alston.—Again Reeve was far too good for his opponent, who, however, stood up well until the referee stopped the fight.

CLASS 2 (10ST. 7LBS. TO 11ST. 7LBS.).

First Round.—R. K. P. Stevens (Harding) beat G. S. Webb (Morley).

Semi-final.—H. E. Winter (Mass.), w.o. Stevens, scratched.
B. G. Louch (Harding) beat J. A. Heath Brown (Morley).—The referee, stopping the fight in the first round, said: "Louch could have taken an advantage there but he waited. That is how a gentleman always should box" always should box."

Final. — Louch beat Winter. — Winter fought strenuously but blindly, and with his head down. Consequently Louch was able to use the upper-cut frequently and with good effect. "Two very plucky boxers," said Mr. Penry Davey.

Class 3 (9st. 7lbs. to 10st.).

First Round.—F. P. Lambert (Mass.) beat G. G. Nolan (Harding); J. O. Levison (Morley) beat G. H. Lawrence (Harding); C. E. Taylor (Childe) beat C. J. V. Fisher (Harding).

Semi-final.—Levison beat Lambert.—Probably the best fight of the day. Levison's greater skill brought him the victory, Lambert's more numerous punches often being parried by his opponent. "Very, very little in it," said the referee in making his decision.

Taylor beat T. Tidd (School).—The loser withstood Taylor's blows and retaliated on occasion, but was not quick enough to gain points. Final.—Levison beat Taylor.—Levison did most of the attacking in Taylor fought for the greater part of the time on the this bout. defensive.

CLASS 4 (9ST. TO 9ST. 7LBS.).

First Round.—H. de B. Brock (Mass.) beat R. F. Hughes (Childe). Semi-final.—D. Allen (Childe) w.o. Brock, scratched. F. F. Foley (Morley) beat G. R. J. Wilkinson (Childe).—Foley was the greater adept of the art and began the majority of the exchanges. He would have won more decisively had Wilkinson not kept a sound

Final.—Allen beat Foley.—Allen was superior to his opponent, whom his hard punches caused much discomfort, but Foley stood the two rounds pluckily. "Both very, very good," remarked the referee.

Class 5.

First Round.—G. E. Wheeler (School) beat B. O. Friend (Childe); A. R. Temple (Childe) beat W. J. Baker (School); J. J. Lowry (Morley) beat G. A. L. Thurgood (School); A. Barnes (Morley) w.o. T. B. Lock (Mass.), scratched; K. B. Talbot (Morley) beat J. W. Stoyle (Childe); C. Weekes (Morley) beat B. J. Powell (Childe).

Second Round.-Lowry beat Barnes; Talbot beat Weekes.

Semi-final.—Wheeler beat Temple.—Temple apparently believes in the saying that attack is the best means of defence. Wheeler, however, was always prepared for his attacks, especially in the second round, when he delivered several good upper-cuts when his opponent advanced with head down.

Lowry beat Talbot.—After starting in an aggressive manner, Talbot was rather out-classed and Lowry had matters rather as he pleased.

Final.—Lowry beat Wheeler.—As the referee said, this was one of the nearest of all the contests. There was not a lot of close fighting, both boys boxing in a cautious manner.

CLASS 6.

First Round.—M. S. Binning (Mass.) beat R. J. Lickfold (Morley); C. Firmin (Mass.) beat E. Sichel (School); P. J. Rose (Harding) beat F. R. Barclay (School); W. E. Murray (Childe) beat H. R. L. Johns (School); J. M. Aylwin (School) beat K. C. W. James (Mass.); R. A. E. Edmondson (Harding) beat A. F. Rawlinson (Mass.).

Second Round.—Rose beat Murray; Aylwin beat Edmondson.

Semi-final.—Binning w.o. Firmin, scratched.

Rose beat Aylwin.—A very fierce bout, both combatants punching with speed and accuracy throughout. Rose deserved to win, being the more careful of the two, but, as the referee said, Aylwin put up a very excellent show.

Final.—Rose beat Binning.—Binning attacked at the start, but Rose was obviously too good for him.

Class 7.

First Round.—C. Johnson (Morley) beat M. A. Marwick (Mass.); A. M. Mould (Mass.) beat P. Levison (Morley); P. French (Mass.) w.o. E. G. Edwards (Morley), scratched; K. R. Kirk (School) beat E. N. Gudge (Morley); A. J. M. Holmes (Mass.), w.o. J. M. Fowle (Harding), scratched; H. P. LeClercq (School) beat J. C. Clark (Mass.); W. G. Green (Morley) beat D. A. Preece (Childe).

Second Round.—Mould beat French; Kirk beat Holmes; Green beat LeClercq.

Semi-final.—Mould beat Johnson.—A good fight, both boys getting down to it in good style. Johnson had a slight advantage of size, but too much swinging lost him a lot of points and opened his guard. "A very excellent show by both boys. A very near thing," was the referee's remark.

Kirk beat Green.—Kirk had to reach high to make contact with his opponent's face, but he managed this skilfully and, especially in the second round, kept Green on the run.

Final.—Mould beat Kirk.—Two evenly matched boys in skill and force. Kirk seemed rather worried and consequently swung rather wildly at times, while Mould remained calm throughout. Both fought very well in the second round. "A very, very near thing; a very excellent fight," commented Mr. Penry Davey.

CLASS 8.

First Round.—A. R. Morgan (Childe) beat K. C. Reeve (Morley); P. Hearn (Harding) beat P. R. May (Childe); B. J. Quail (School) beat K. Taylor (Childe); M. Colwill (Childe) beat L. P. James (Mass.); C. LeCercq (Mass.) beat R. G. Lacey (Childe).

Second Round.-Morgan beat Hearn.

Semi-final.—Morgan beat Quail.—Both boys were very eager to reach the other while trying to remain clear of possible counter blows. The result was that their punches rarely made contact. Extra half-minute, in which Morgan managed to gain the necessary points.

Colwill beat LeClercq.—The loser fought gamely against the odds of Colwill's superior reach and height.

Final.—Colwill beat Morgan.—Colwill's more methodic fighting and longer reach gave him this bout.

CLASS 9.

First Round.—D. B. Boulter (Morley) beat E. L. Austin (Harding); D. C. Taylor (Childe) beat I. Watts (Harding); D. W. Allcock (Morley) beat J. A. Gudge (School); D. R. Goddard (School) beat C. A. White (Childe), I. E. Dolley (Mass.) beat R. A. Bristow (School); J. E. Roberts (Morley) beat R. G. Bristow (School).

Second Round.—Allcock beat Goddard; Dolley beat Roberts.

Semi-final.—Boulter beat Taylor.—All the attacking in this fight came from Boulter, but Taylor kept a sound defence. His lack of initiative, however, prevented him from gaining the necessary points.

Dolley beat Allcock.—Allcock kept an open guard, apparently in an attempt to draw his opponent, but Dolley was equally cautious. In the second round, however, Dolley, the initiator of the exchanges, found his mark.

Final.—Boulter beat Dolley.—Boulter's punches were always more telling than those made by Dolley, who was inclined to swing.

CLASS 10.

First Round.—J. M. Hutchings (School) w.o. J. Donaldson (Mass.), scratched; J. P. Parker (Harding) w.o. A. G. Brown (Mass.), scratched; R. J. Bidwell (Morley) beat A. H. Wellby (School); K. R. Lucas (Mass.) beat P. N. Purfield (Morley); J. R. Fordham (Mass.) beat A. R. King (School).

Second Round.—Hutchings beat Parker; Fordham beat Lucas; P. Nash (Mass.) beat D. L. P. Hopkins (Harding).

Semi-final.—Hutchings beat Bidwell.—Hutchings attacked strongly from the start of the first round. For a time Bidwell stood up to his more skilful opponent, but gradually weakened and towards the end Hutchings was less aggressive. The second round was a repetition of the first.

Fordham beat Nash.—Nash was out-classed in this fight, but fought gamely. Fordham ducking and swinging too much, his blows very often missed the mark, especially as his opponent kept a good guard.

Final.—Hutchings w.o. Fordham, scratched.

CLASS 11.

First Round.—A. J. Barter (School) beat G. C. Ricketts (Childe); J. W. Brine (Harding) beat A. J. Cornish (School); E. F. Hunt (Mass.) w.o. M. Smallcombe (Harding); J. F. Quail (School) beat B. C. Seeley (Mass.); R. W. M. Gibbs (Morley) w.o. J. Mew (Mass.) scratched; G. S. Tilford (Mass.) w.o. P. Morice (School); M. Marshall (Childe) beat A. C. Westley (School).

Second Round.—Barter beat C. Newport (Harding); Brine beat Hunt; Gibbs beat Quail; Tilford beat Marshall.

Semi-final.—Barter beat Brine.—A very oddly matched pair. Brine was the more methodical of the two but was handicapped considerably by his small stature. Towards the end of the first round Barter was more aggressive and the second round produced some very good fighting.

Gibbs beat Tilford.—These boys seemed to derive much enjoyment from their bout, grinning broadly at each exchange of blows. A close fight, Final.—Gibbs beat Barter, the referee stopping the fight in the second round. "Plucky boy, Barter," he said.

CLASS 12.

First Round.—J. D. Heelis (Harding) beat N. P. Chuter (Childe); J. Robson (Harding) beat P. W. Riseborough (Childe); J. McMullon (School) beat F. E. Brine (Harding); J. I. Norton (Harding) w.o. A. T. R. Seville (Morley), scratched; R. F. Webb (Morley) beat K. Watts (Harding); D. E. Wood (Harding) beat G. M. King (School).

Second Round.-Norton beat McMullon; Webb beat Wood.

Semi-final.—Robson beat Heelis.—Heelis used ram-like methods which brought him one or two points, but Robson's skill enabled him to land telling blows which Heelis was too slow to avoid.

Webb beat Norton.—Attacking or defending, Norton used one method, viz., ducking. opponent's body. This took him out of range of his taller

Final.—Robson beat Webb.—Robson was the more aggressive and, although Webb showed more skill, he could not withstand his opponent's attacks.

The Boxing Finals, 1937.

First take a cockerel that's very game, Add heaps of sand and ginger to the same. Pour in a double dose of Scotch "with nobs on," And then you'll get a winner—JOHNNY ROBSON.

Unless you have the necessary pluck And skill to counter lightning lunge and duck; E'en though you've armour plate on chin and ribs, Don't go into the ring v. RODNEY GIBBS.

No round on round for you, no long suspense; No fevered struggles, breathless, grim, intense; No anxious parryings, no frantic clutchings; Two rounds decide. The medal's yours—JOHN HUTCHINGS.

Two nimble feet, two eyes that blaze intent, Two darting arms, compact of punishment, Two fists, each one indeed a nasty jolter; Too good to be defeated-DAVID BOULTER.

"Thrice is he armed who gets his blow in fust"; At least in boxing the advice is just. No one who does not fight with heart and soul will Annex the palm. Triumphe! MICKY COLWILL.

It's sweet to reach your adversary's nose, And ducksomely to make him miss his blows. Turn up your Dickens, Tony, and behold An Artful Dodger of the self-same-MOULD.

The boxer's art, 'tis very plain to see, Is not to you an unplumbed mystery. But best of all, there's mercy in your blows. Macte, puer, virtute! PETER ROSE.

Your vis-a-vis was subtle, swift and strong; The fight was hard and even all along. A brother's praise is seldom very flowery, But Norman would have said: "Another LOWRY." I would not like to meet your upper-cut With any portion of my precious "nut"; So would a rabbit face an eagle's talon. Pax tecum, pax, I prithee, DUDLEY ALLEN.

You're just as tough and plucky, I agree; Your boxing merits all are plain to see. But though you may be nimble, strong and heavy, son, You'll surely meet your match in J. O. LEVISON.

Ah! what avail the dogged, desperate lunge, The breathless rush, the brave, unseeing plunge, Against a gentleman who proved, I vouch, That one may smile and smile—and B. G. LOUCH.

When fists are wielded by a mass of brawn, A British bull-dog and a fighter born, 'Tis blesseder to give than to receive.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Further tribute to the late Mr. R. W. Mason, a member of the Old Farnhamians' Association and for many years Chairman of the Governors of the Grammar School, was made at the annual meeting of the Association held at the School last term. Mr. F. A. Morgan (Headmaster of the School and President of the Association), who presided, said Mr. Mason was devoted to the Association and generous in many practical ways. He came regularly and loyally to their meetings, and it was always a pleasure to see him mixing so happily with the people of a different age. The members stood in silent tribute to Mr. Mason, remembering at the same time Mr. J. R. Nash and Mr. L. S. Tempsett, two other old members, who had passed away since the last meeting of the Association.

TREASURER'S SATISFACTORY REPORT.

Mr. G. H. Bacon (hon, treasurer) reported that the membership was 382, as compared with 381 last year. There were 27 new members, and 26 had been struck off for various reasons. There were 23 life members.

The statement of accounts for the year ending November 30th, 1937, showed a balance in hand of £27 6s. 1d., as compared with a balance brought forward of £21 7s. 5d. Income, amounting to £88 2s. 8d., included £37 15s. (outstanding subscriptions paid up) and £26 5s. (1937 subscriptions). Expenditure, which accounted for £60 16s. 7d., included £37 16s. (magazines), £14

5s. 4d. (postages and cheques), £3 18s. 9d. (printing and stationery), £2 2s. (F.U.D.C. Coronation Fund), £1 13s. 6d. (wreaths) and £1 1s. (F.G.S. prize fund).

The life subscriptions accounts showed new income from subscriptions amounting to £19 19s. A balance of £78 15s. was brought forward, and £95 War  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. Inscribed Stock at  $100\frac{7}{8}$  had been purchased, leaving a balance in hand of £2 6s. 10d.

In the Memorial Field fund there is a balance in hand of £72 16s. 2d., including the £50 earmarked for a future pavilion. The balance brought forward of £85 15s. 2d. had been augmented by further donations of £4 10s. 6d. The biggest expenditure was £14 5s. for the laying on of water.

The accounts of the O.F.A. Trust Fund Insurance Bureau were presented by Mr. G. M. Aylwin, whom the meeting congratulated on his appointment as a Governor of the School. Income, amounting to £600 13s. 4d., included a balance brought forward of £467 4s. 2d. (£420 6s. investments, £28 19s. 5d. deposit, and £17 18s. 9d. cash), £57 13s. 1d. (commission on insurances) and £16 7s. 4d. (interest on investments and deposit). Expenditure, amounting to £66 6s. 9d., showed the purchase of  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. War Stock at a cost of £60. This leaves a balance in hand of £534 6s. 7d. (£479 14s. 9d. investments, £11 4s. 9d. deposit, and £43 7s. 1d. cash).

The accounts were adopted and gratitude expressed to Mr. Bacon and Mr. Aylwin for their work.

It was decided to send a donation of  $\pounds 2$  2s. to the Farnham Urban District Council's Christmas Gift Fund.

Reporting on the Sports Club, Mr. F. O. Meddows Taylor stated that the Cricket Club had had a successful season, winning the Sports House Cup, while the Football and Rifle Clubs had been re-formed.

There were 26 members in the Football Club, said Mr. T. C. Aldridge, and the Club was making excellent progress. They appeared likely to finish high up in their division of the Farnham and District League, while a reserve team had played a number of friendly matches.

The Chairman expressed the great satisfaction felt by the Association at the successful re-formation of the Football Club.

Mr. I. C. Patrick, stating that the Rifle Club had a membership of eight, appealed for more support, to enable the Club to compete satisfactorily in the North Hants Postal League.

The following officers were elected: Hon. Treasurer, Mr. G. H. Bacon; Joint Hon. Secretaries, Messrs. I. C. Patrick and T. C. Aldridge (appreciation being expressed of the services of Mr. J. E. Sims, who had resigned after six years' loyal and enthusiastic work as hon. secretary); Hon. Auditors, Mr. E. W. Langham and Mr. G. F. Wright. Mr. Sims was elected on the General Committee in place of Mr. N. H. Hillyer (resigned). Seven other members retired this year. Messrs. S. G. Robins, H. Elphick, L. E. Lord, R. J. Ridout and D. C. Horry were re-elected, with the addition of Mr. H. S. North and Mr. W. A. Smallman.

It was decided to write to Mr. C. E. Borelli congratulating him on his appointment as Chairman of the Governors, and inviting him to become a Vice-President of the Association.

FETE IN SUMMER.

It was agreed that the summer reunion should take the form of a fête on behalf of the leaving scholarship fund and should be held in July.

THE DANCE.

The dance organised by the Association and held in the Memorial Hall on Boxing Night proved a great success. There were 400 applications for the 200 tickets, and many people had to be refused. The hall had been tastefully decorated, and during the evening various novelties were distributed. The duties of M.C. were jointly carried out by Mr. A. T. F. Funnell and Mr. E. G. Glynn.

THE TWELFTH ANNUAL DINNER.

By "Surrey Chicken."

"The more we are together, the merrier we shall be" may very probably be the motto of our indefatigable dinner secretary, Mr. Funnell. At any rate, I am sure he was delighted to make arrangements this year for 77 members, nearly a record. The function was held at the Bush Hotel on February 26th, and I think the other 76 will agree with me when I say that "excellent" is the only word with which to describe the repast, the entertainment and the many interesting ideas put forward by the speakers.

A happy note was struck by Mr. Ridout replying to the applause which greeted the members of the staff at the end of the usual roll call. There were some boys, he said, who were a little difficult at School but, as they often came back to see him after they had left, they apparently did not owe him any grudge, and he did not owe any to them. I am sure he was voicing the thoughts of every master in those words.

We were glad to receive through our President the best wishes of Dr. Brown. Although over 83, said Mr. Morgan, Dr. Brown was still fit and still full of that shrewdness and those witty comments on life which made him such a delightful personality.

"Old Bill" (Mr. William Stroud), whose appearance was, as usual, the signal for loud and prolonged cheering, expressed his thanks to those members who had contributed towards the 80th birthday gift presented to him last June, and again reminded us that the 600th anniversary of the foundation of the School is only 13 years hence.

Proposing the toast of "The Association" in a most entertaining speech, John Cooke referred to the suggestion that an Old Boys' Club should be built on the new ground in Morley Road. To foster the club spirit until such time as a building could be erected, he suggested that members resort to somewhere like "The Bush" once a month.

In replying, Vic Rumble referred to the old division of the School into "train" boys and "town" boys. He felt that the Association was still divided in that way and that, while it was the "town" boys' job to keep the Association going, the "train" boys were always ready to support anything they arranged.

Applause greeted Harold North's opening sentence: "We have all got an extraordinarily high opinion of the School." He was proposing the toast of the School, and advocated greater publicity of its activities. He also appealed to members to pool information regarding their various jobs so as to facilitate the work of the Headmaster and his staff in choosing careers for boys leaving School. The probable result would be that boys would enter jobs for which they were particularly suited. They all knew that the School was turning out "thundering" fine fellows. If at the same time they were fine men in their particular job, then the name of Farnham Grammar School would be written all over the world in big letters.

Responding, Mr. Morgan said he was struck by John Cooke's idea of forming an Old Boys' Club, and suggested that the Association should buy the old reservoir adjoining the new field. (Perhaps this remark need not be taken very seriously). With regard to Harold North's remarks, the chief publicity he wished for was the esteem of the Old Boys, who, he hoped, would send along their offspring. In the matter of choosing careers for boys, he already had a large quantity of information on a large variety of jobs, but Old Boys could help by letting him know when they heard of any job being available.

Because it was broad based, our School compared very favourably with those exclusive schools which, by paradox, were called Public Schools, said the President in conclusion, and he was proud to claim that up to a point the sons of the well-to-do and the sons of the workers were taught side by side at Farnham Grammar School.

W. A. Riseborough (the youngest member present) delighted us with a monologue in Lancashire dialect, and an excellent conjuring and ventroliquial entertainment was given by John Brearley. I would have liked to see the goldfish. Farewells were said soon after 11 o'clock, the glasses on the centre table re-echoing my opening words.

LIST OF THOSE PRESENT.

FOOTBALL.

I do not propose, at this stage, to make at all a detailed report, as the season is not much more than half way through. Suffice it to say that the League team has fully justified earlier expectations. At the moment of writing, we are heading Division II. of the Farnham and District League, and have reached the semi-final of the Farnham Hospitals Cup.

It is particularly gratifying that we have been able to run a reserve team, and I should like to take this opportunity of thanking all members of the Club for the enthusiastic support they have given to the efforts of the Committee to make a real success of the Club.

Our sincere thanks are due to Mr. Morgan for the use of the ground; to Mr. Beeken for refereeing reserve games; to Mr. Boyes for the excellent way in which he has marked out the pitch; to Roy Harrington and Ken Kirk for acting as linesmen; and particularly to Mr. Bacon for the invaluable assistance he has given the Secretary in running the Club.

CRICKET CLUB.

The 1938 fixture list, which is now practically complete, is given below, and it will be seen that several new fixtures have been arranged.

I shall be pleased to hear from new members, and a sincere welcome is extended to boys who have just left School.

Net practices will commence late in April, and it is to be hoped that as many members as possible will attend, particularly in view of our performances in the early part of last season!

A RETURN TO GALLIPOLI.

It is now two years ago that I heard that R.M.S. Lancastria was to make this cruise, but at the time I had no idea that it was to take the form of a pilgrimage by those who had fought there 20 years before. However, I thought that I would like to see the old place again, and so some time in February of that year I booked a berth, though the cruise was not to start until May. On the first day of May, then, behold me up at 6.30 a.m. busily packing and, in between, snatching something to eat, and at 10 a.m. climbing into the car and off on the first part of my 6,000 mile journey.

I need not trouble anyone with the journey from Hilderstone to Stafford, nor from the latter to Liverpool. It is enough to mention that on the train I found many who were to be my fellow pilgrims, and we soon got on very friendly terms; so that, when we arrived at Liverpool and found that it would be more than a couple of hours before we could go aboard, we all went and got something to eat and took a stroll into the town. However, when the ship came alongside, we were all there and ready to get aboard, and there we found many more who were to be with us for many a day, and to experience the joys and sad memories that were to be ours before we saw England again. When we were aboard, we found that we were to have three notable persons with us, and on going on to the boat deck I saw them together, looking at some of the wreaths that we were taking out with us for the cenotaphs in Turkey, Greece and Mespot. These three—Admiral Keyes, Field-Marshal Birdwood and Captain Unwin, v.c.—right loyally played their part throughout the trip, giving lectures at night and explaining many things that to us old Tommies had always been a mystery, and taking part in the everyday life of the ship.

However, let us, like the ship, start our journey. We left the quay at half-past four and were towed out into mid-stream and turned round, the ship's band in the meantime playing all the old war-time songs. And so down to tea, and then a race up again on deck to see the last of England, for we didn't expect to see any of it in the morning, and it would soon be dark. Then at 7 p.m. came the first real meal aboard—dinner—but it being the first night we were excused dressing. Shall I ever forget that The chief idea seemed to be to put on a paper hat that had been provided for each passenger and blow the squeaker at the person opposite you and keep on until he gave in. Can you imagine the row and the scene—a lot of men and women gone mad? But it did the trick, for we all knew one another after that and had sorted ourselves out. There followed dancing for those who wished, and walking the lighted decks, and talking of the old times and experiences long gone. our bunks, happy and tired out,

What a lovely morning it is next day—just a faint mist over the sea, and not a ripple except what the ship is making. Far away on the port quarter lie the Scilly Isles. After breakfast there is the ship to be explored, for at first one keeps getting lost, and then at about 11 a.m. three G's go on the ship's whistle. There is a general rush for your cabin and life belts and up to your boat station with the belt on, and a wait of a few moments till the officer comes round and inspects you. Then off to your cabin to return the belt, and when you arrive back on the deck again, you find the stewards going round with hot soup. Then a walk and talk with your particular pal until lunch; and so the life goes on.

We passed through the Straits of Gibraltar rather too early for me, and, as I had been there the year before, it did not interest me enough to make me get up at such an ungodly hour. On May 7th we arrived at Malta, but it was 2 p.m. before we could land. In the meanwhile a deputation of the Malta Branch of the British Legion came aboard to welcome us, and at the time appointed we went ashore and got into our motor-cars and started our tour of the island, which some of us knew so well long ago. First we went to the Upper Barraca Gardens, the Customs House, the Governor's Palace, with its state rooms magnificently furnished, the tapestry chamber and the armoury, afterwards going on to St. John's Cathedral. We heard a lot of interesting history of the Grand Masters of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and inspected treasures of great value. Then on again to San Antonio Gardens, where oranges were growing, and lilies that we in England have to keep under glass flourish in the open. From there we went to the Malta War Memorial Hospital for the children, where we were most kindly received by Judge the Hon. Professor Sir A. Bartolo, Ll.d., a Trustee and Chairman of the Governing Board. We played with the little occupants of the cots, and then we lined up in two ranks in the corridor. After observing two minutes' silence, Mr. G. J. Barry, the oldest soldier present, laid a poppy wreath just beneath the commemoration tablet. The inscription on the wreath read: "To the immortal memory of our Glorious Dead, from Pilgrims aboard R.M.S. Lancastria."

From there we drove up and alighted at the doors of the most palatial Club, watched by large crowds in the street. We were most cordially welcomed, and all the party, including the ladies, were provided with tea and mountain strawberries and cream or other delicacies. At length the 70 men who had been earmarked for the special dinner at the Osborne Hotel left for that place. Here we were welcomed by His Excellency the Governor, who presided at the dinner. The toasts were well and truly honoured and the speeches were broadcast throughout the island. There is no need to go right through the evening, but at two o'clock we sailed away into the night, with the happy memories of a time spent among scenes where we served our home-land. Looking forward, and wondering how those other scenes that we knew so long ago will receive us and appear to us now, we headed away to Salonika.

NEWS OF OLD BOYS.

Congratulations (somewhat belated!) and good wishes to S. G. Nash (1923-1926) on his marriage.

- R. E. Hack (1932-1937) has been registered by the Pharmaceutical Society and is serving his "articles" at Messrs. Boots, Farnham.
- G. W. S. Morris (1928-1930) last year passed the Final Examination of the Chartered Surveyors' Institution. He sits for the one remaining part of the Testamur Examination of the Municipal and County Engineers in April.
- K. W. W. Bartlett (1925-1932) is with Radiation, Ltd., as Research Assistant in Vitreous Enamelling, working at Bilston in the heart of the Black Country. "The job leaves little to be desired, but the surroundings, everything!"
- A. G. Styles (1922-1928) "cheers the heart of the Treasurer" (those blessed words) with the news that he hopes to become a Life Member in 1939.

- S. G. Nash (1923-1926) informs us that G. J. Malin (1923-1926), who went to the Royal Aircraft Establishment with him, was last heard of in the Aeronautical Inspection Directorate, the Air Ministry organisation at various aircraft works. Nash writes: "The training we received at the R.A.E. was very good, and workers from there are usually sought after in the aircraft If anyone hankers after incursions into mechanical realms, a training at the R.A.E. will practically ensure a fair berth in the industry. Malin and I left School at the commencement of our Matric, year—a palpable error, as a good few of the R.A.E. students obtained 'Inter.' and one even a final B.Sc. from the Technical School there." His particular job is now what is known as "mechanical testing"—endeavouring to produce failures of structural aircraft components, and sometimes of complete aircraft, under laboratory conditions corresponding to those of flight; otherwise, "breaking things up!"
- L. C. W. Fitzwalter (1921-1923) was a member of the Scottish Select team which crossed to the Irish Free State last August to shoot again the Number One team, "City of Dublin." The Scottish team were welcomed in Dublin at the Mansion House by the Lord Mayor and entertained to luncheon, followed by a visit to the Dublin Horse Show. At a dinner, given in honour of their visit, his party indulged in "soft" drinks—the hosts in something stronger, which may have accounted for a good Scottish victory in the match next morning! His own score was 395 out of a possible 400.
- B. A. L. Langridge (1929-1932) has taken up motor-cycling as a hobby! His first and apparently only love was a disreputable and cantankerous little two-stroke; the second possession (within six months) all chromium and enamel. "All the chromium in the world won't make up for that first ride I had, though, when the clutch wire 'busted' and a hundred and one other faults developed."
- E. G. Woodhatch (1929-1937) is at present at the Harrow branch of J. Sainsbury, but is casting longing eyes on a career in the Police Force. Apparently he does not share W. S. Gilbert's opinion on the lot of the man in blue, but he does agree with other O.F. that life at School was pleasant.

Such a one is R. W. Judd (1934-1937), who pines for a football match and fresh air on the Field. Nevertheless, he is very satisfied at having secured a post with Hay's Wharf Cartage Company, which he thinks will suit him very well. He is in the meat department at Victoria Dock.

F. W. Withers (1935-1937) is in the export department of Unilever, Ltd., at their London office. At present, while waiting for a real job, he acts as a sort of messenger boy and spends much time on the lifts—symbolic of his determination to rise.

Good wishes to J. Lucas (1935-1937), who has joined the training ship H.M.S. Ganges at Ipswich.

- R. E. Lintern (1930-1936) is happy at Wye College, where there is no French.
- L. Lintern (1932-1937) is also happy in the R.A.F. at Ruislip, where he is doing much boxing.

Congratulations to L. A. Gibson (1916-1923) on his marriage last August. He is a very busy man as Hon. Secretary of the Surrey Schools F.A., President of the Coulsdon Teachers' Association, and member of the Child Road Safety Committee. We hope he will be able to spare the time to visit Farnham soon.

Another Old Boy who has recently got married is the Rev. W. I. C. Shipley (1920-1923). He and his wife have now gone to South Africa to take up new work at Port Shepstone, Natal. Good wishes!

- P. J. Woods (1928-1933) is now at the Grosvenor House Private Hotel, Five Ways, Birmingham, where he is learning to be a hotel manager. He finds the work very interesting, keeping the guests and staff happy—and carving! Still, he finds time to go to the skating rink every day.
- L. M. Roberts (1929-1936) is enjoying very much his work, which is concerned with antique furniture. It is an interesting business, which he is learning "slowly but surely."

We were delighted to hear from W. A. McLelland (1925-1932) that he has been appointed by the Legal and General Assurance Society, Ltd., to be Inspector at their West End office in the Haymarket—surely a record for youthfulness. He is also attached to the 34th (Q.O.R.W.K.) Anti-Aircraft Battalion, R.E., at Blackheath and hopes for a commission. Good work, Mac.!

Extra special congratulations to W. A. Smallman (1927-1934) on being elected President of the Union of King's College, London. We feel sure that the dignity has fallen upon worthy and adequate shoulders.

We have received another memento of the past from F. S. Peachev (1872-1877), in the shape of a newspaper cutting which was taken from the local weekly some time in 1877. The interest lies in the examination results of F.G.S. for that year. Times change; so does the School. Out of 89 pupils in the School, 62 gained certificates of competency (Higher and Lower Division), awarded by the National Society "to encourage Middle Class Schools to prepare for the Local Examinations." This sounds like good going. As we look through the list 60 years after, the following names jump to the eye: F.S.P. himself, P. E. Stroud, J. R. Stroud, A. E. Thorp and G. Sturt, the last-named obtaining honours in English, French and Latin. In an adjacent column we learn that the School had five successful candidates in the Cambridge Junior Local, but that our then rival, Basingstoke School, passed 14 boys, three of them with first-class honours. Thank you, Mr. Peachey. We are always glad to receive reminders of the past such as these.

- A. E. Job (1933-1936) is hockey secretary at Selwyn College, Cambridge.
- R. J. Turner (1926-1934) is now working in London in the Radio Branch at Dollis Hill Research Station. He is studying for Internal B.Sc. (Eng.) at Northampton Polytechnic. Last summer holidays he did an interesting motor-cycle tour from Ostend through Belgium, Luxembourg, Saar Basin, Austrian Tyrol, Brenner Pass, Dolomites, Venice, Milan, Lake Maggiore, Simplon Pass, Rhone Valley, Lausanne, Juras, Paris and so back to Dieppe. Sight-seeing in Venice, a day's walking in the Alps and a week-end in Paris wandering round the "Exposition" made up "a pretty hectic fortnight."
- J. T. Ballett (1931-1936) is very busy at Farnborough with evening classes, day school and homework! In his spare time he helps to dissect aero-engines of various makes, to find out their ailments. When re-assembled they are run against a brake for hours on end—a "head-achy" process, as they sometimes give off as much as 1,000 h:p. and are run with open exhaust pipes!
- D. W. C. Jepp (1929-1936) still swims! Last year he was reserve for the "A" team (Metropolitan Police) that came in second to Oldham City Police in the Police Relay Championship; actually he swam for the "B" team, which was third. He is now concentrating on the back-stroke (crawl) and returning times close to those he used to for free-style.
  - E. A. Sheppard (1926-1932) has no news!
- W. M. Robertson (1929-1936) has now changed his opinion of Birmingham and settled down. He has moved to a superior district from a residential point of view! He is attending evening classes at the Central Technical College, working for a B.Sc. Special in Chemistry. The lecturer in Organic Chemistry is an Old Boy of Odiham Grammar School and remembers playing against—and beating!—the School in 1921 (our records are silent about this game!—Ed.) He has become an Aston Villa "fan"!
- B. P. Harper (1934-1935) writes from Kenya that he has been offered and has accepted a job on a rubber estate in Malaya. He hopes to be on his way to the F.M.S. some time in April. This March he is attending the Kenya Regiment Camp at N'gong, where he will meet "Tuffy" Marshall, a member of the Sotik Platoon.
- J. W. F. Gwillim (1921-1926) is now home from his tour of duty on the China Station. He is at present stationed at Devonport.
- J. W. Mack (1923-1931), with the R.A.O.C. in Singapore, sends interesting news. There are plenty of opportunities for sport—cricket, soccer (nearly all the year round), rugby and hockey. "The other day we had a trip of 20 miles to play hockey. Everything went fine for about eight miles, when the engine wanted a rest. Another bus was sent, which did only a couple of miles. The conductor went back for another bus. He returned with the news that four more had gone from the garage. seventh arrived safe and sound, so we started back for home." He has played cricket for the United Services. "Out here you get plenty of different wickets. One day you may be on grass, the next on matting over grass, and later on hard sand. The last is the usual type. In Egypt we had some four grounds with grass; the rest were sand rolled hard. You can play six days without the ground being rolled if it is looked after in the first place. Football was played on the same hard sand, but here every pitch is grass, sometimes with hard sand cricket pitches in the middle." He is not in love with the climate. There are miniature canals in front of the shops to clear away the rain. These are anything from 18ins, to 6ft, in depth and from 1ft, to 3ft, in width. only amusement, apart from walking round the town, is "The Pictures." The films are good—usually those showing at the same time in London.

To all Old Boys who sent greetings and kindly remembrances at Christmas and the New Year, many thanks!
